PAY YOUR TAXES AND CAST YOUR VOTE.

All taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, January 18. That is the last day on which a tax receipt can be issued that will qualify a citizen to vote at the February city election. Voters will do well to give their immediate attention to this, for the law says no man can vote who has not paid a state or county tax within two years and at least thirty days before election day.

FAMILY OF SEVEN PERISH TOGETHER IN BURNING HOME

Owner of the Building Suspected of Starting the Fire in Order to Collect $9,000 Insurance.

VICTIMS AT WINDOWS MAKE FUTILE APPEAL FOR HELP

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Seven human lives were sacrificed in a fire here this morning, the police suspect, in order that Joseph Supowski, the owner of the building in which the victims had their homes, might collect the $9,000 insurance which he carried upon the structure and its contents.

The building was a two-story frame affair located on Broadway. In the lower story was a shoe store owned by Supowski, the upper floors being used as tenements, in which two families lived. The fire broke out about 3 o'clock and was followed almost immediately by an explosion, which spread the fire and shut the family of Henry Pearlstein, consisting of his wife and five children, in a blazing death trap, from which there was no possibility of escape.

Shut in a Blazing Trap.

The family living in the rear flat were aroused and made their escape by means of a rear entrance, barely in time to save their lives. Had their escape been delayed two minutes longer a half dozen more victims would have been added to the list of dead.

The Pearlsteins made frantic efforts to save themselves and their children, but the only stairway was choked by an impassable barrier of flames. They then ran to the windows in the hope that assistance from the outside would arrive before it was too late. But the fire department had not arrived, and there were no ladders to be found, although the few spectators rushed madly about in search for them or some other means whereby the imperiled family might be brought safely to the ground.

Help Came Too Late.

Just at this moment a terrific explosion in the lower part of the building occurred. The whole front of the store was blown out and the glass and contents of the windows were hurled across the street, scattering the horrified crowd of onlookers. The Pearlsteins were still at the windows when the explosion occurred, the father clasping one of the smaller children in his arms and the mother another. Their despairing screams could be heard above the roar of the flames. Then the floor upon which they had been standing, shaken by the explosion and undermined by the fire, gave way beneath them and they were precipitated into the middle of the hottest part of the blaze.

The fire department had arrived at the fire just as the last scene of the tragedy was enacted, and in the course of an hour the fire was quenched sufficiently to allow a search for the bodies to begin. The victims were found close together, the arms of the mother still clasped about her babe, the father holding another.

Suspects Under Arrest.

Joseph Supowski and Karl Bracki, his brother-in-law, were at once placed under arrest, the neighbors having informed the police that Supowski himself had started the fire. Supowski was badly frightened and told the police that he had accidentally dropped a lamp.

An investigation was begun at once and the prisoners will be held until the result of the coroner's inquest is made known. It is likely that a charge of murder and arson will be lodged against them.

The Pearlsteins will be buried immediately. The condition of the bodies is such that they cannot be identified positively, even by relatives of the family. The expenses of the funeral will be defrayed by a subscription which is being taken up among the sympathizing neighbors. The slowness of the fire department will also be a matter for the consideration of the coroner, as it is believed that had the response to the alarm been more prompt the entire family might have been saved from their horrible fate.

RESCUED AFTER TERRIBLE NIGHT IN AN OPEN BOAT

Help Reached Them as They Sank on Their Knees to Pray for Assistance.

FOUGHT ICE AND COLD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 12.—Thomas Oleanchak and John Clouel, who work for a farmer on Pettys island, were rescued this morning in an unconscious condition from an open boat on the Delaware river.

The men had rowed to the New Jersey shore yesterday afternoon with a load of kindling wood. It was beginning to grow dark when they started to row home in their yawl boat. The current was filled with the ice floes, which soon began to freeze together. When half the distance had been covered they were caught fast. Tons of ice worked their way around the boat, and they were soon completely hemmed in.

Oleanchak and Clouel settled back in the boat to await an opening of the ice mass, which they thought would part in a short time. Instead of doing so, however, the cakes froze solid and the men saw that their lives were in danger. Either shore was about 150 yards away, and ice covered nearly the entire distance. The men tried to pick a way across the floes to Pettys island, but were forced to return to the yawl as they found the ice unsafe.

Using their oars as weapons the men began a fight against the ice that lasted all night. At 2 o'clock in the morning they were completely exhausted, but dared not go to sleep, fearing they would be frozen to death.

When daylight appeared with no help in sight they sank upon their knees and began to pray. While praying their condition was discovered by Henry McCordy of Pavonia, who was walking along the shore. He gave the alarm. The Camden police boat, Visitor, tried to reach the men, but could not make her way through the thick ice.

Word was telephoned to Philadelphia and a heavy tug came over and ploughed through the ice fields to where the yawl boat was encrusted in the floes. Oleanchak and Clouel were unconscious when the tug reached them, and they were removed to the Camden hospital, where they were put to bed. The rescued men are in a serious condition tonight.

MILLIONAIRE WAS MOTORMAN

Ran a Car from New Brunswick to Bound Brook to Accommodate Three Young Women.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Three young women of Bound Brook who had missed the last regular trolley for their home rode early this morning from New Brunswick to Bound Brook on a special trolley car, with a millionaire for a motorman. The millionaire was Edward H. Rodel, secretary and general manager of the Middlesex & Somerset Traction Company.

Miss Minnie Daley and two girl friends attended Shortridge's theater last night, intending to return on the midnight car. The time table of the Bound Brook line had been changed a few days ago, and the midnight car was cut off. The girls did not know of this, and did not learn of it until after midnight.

They awakened Mr. Rodel, who dressed himself and unaided took out a car and acted as motorman. One of the young women managed the trolley pole on curves and switches. Arrived at Bound Brook Mr. Rodel saw the young women safely to their homes and then brought the car back to New Brunswick.

NASH'S SECOND TERM.

Governor of Ohio Will Be Inaugurated at Columbus Today.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12.—Gov. George K. Nash will tomorrow be inaugurated into office for his second term. Arrangements have been made for a military and civic parade in the afternoon.

In the evening there will be a public reception.

MRS. DENNIS' TALE MAKES THE POLICE MORE MYSTIFIED

Her Statement of Hiding Place of Revolver and Purse Puzzles the Officials.

HER ASSAILANT UNKNOWN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. S., Jan. 12.—Mrs. Ada Dennis, the fashionable modiste, who was murderously attacked on the night of the 9th of December, was able to make a statement today for the first time.

The police have been hopeful that what she would say would throw some light on the motive for the crime or lead to the discovery of the perpetrator, but Mrs. Dennis' statement contained nothing that would give any clue in either direction.

She said she remembers nothing immediately preceding the attack upon her and said the blow was struck while she was asleep. Nor had she the remotest idea who committed the assault nor the motive for it. Mrs. Dennis said she had not been out of the house during the evening of the night of the assault and that before retiring she had locked the doors to the front and back parlors. The latter she occupied as a bedroom.

One feature of Mrs. Dennis' statement that puzzles the police is that she said her revolver and her money were under her pillow when she retired. When the crime was discovered the next morning the revolver was in a drawer of a secretary nearby and the money was in a pocketbook in a box on a table near the bed. The police are more mystified than ever over the affair.

Mrs. Dennis' condition today was much improved and the attending physicians now believe that she will recover.

A NOTED FISHERMAN.

Ex-President Cleveland Forfeits the Title of "Honorable" When Doing Business With Fellow Anglers.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—As a mark of appreciation of the ability and enthusiasm of Grover Cleveland as a fisherman, the former president was elected to honorary membership in the Pennsylvania Fish Protective association by a unanimous vote last night. He was nominated as "the Hon. Grover Cleveland."

"No," objected a member, "As an ex-president he is entitled to the 'honorable' but as a fisherman, and a good one at that, to us he is just plain 'Mr. Cleveland.'"

It was the annual meeting of the association. Reports were received from various counties showing the progress of the work of enforcing the game laws as they related to fish.

The legislative committee was instructed to act in co-operation with the botanical society of Pennsylvania to obtain favorable legislation by congress in the project of establishing an eastern forest reserve, to correspond with the Yellowstone National Park." The watershed in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee is the ground favored.

SISTERS OF CHARITY STOP HUMAN SACRIFICE.

Because the Queue of a Paralytic Chinaman Had Been Removed His Countrymen Pronounced His Doom.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BAKER CITY, ORE., Jan. 12.—A human sacrifice was prevented by the timely arrival of some sisters of charity upon the scene in this city. Hy Wong, a paralytic Chinaman, who has been a county charge, was returned to the care of his countrymen in Chinatown. While he was an inmate of the county hospital his queue had been cut off. On this account the Chinese made preparations to offer him as a sacrifice to joss. Hy Wong managed to get a message to the sisters at the hospital and they reached him before his life was taken. It is asserted that all preparations for Hy Wong's execution had been completed when the sisters arrived at the joss house.

PRINCE HENRY TO BE GREETED WITH HIGHEST HONORS

Emperor William's Brother Will Receive the Same Salute as That Given to President.

TROOPS WILL ESCORT HIM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—Prince Henry of Prussia is to be given a reception befitting the high station he occupies as the representative of such a great nation as Germany.

Prince Henry will be treated with the most distinguished courtesy. Upon his arrival at New York he will be received by representatives of the president and of the army and navy and by a military escort. Before he lands a salute of 21 guns, the number given to the president, will be fired. At the launching of the Imperial yacht, which will be christened by Miss Roosevelt, his address will be answered by the president in terms as cordial as he himself will employ. When he reaches Washington he will be received by the president and will be invited to be a guest of the nation. He may prefer to stop at the German embassy.

Will Dine With President.

Following his call upon the president, Mr. Roosevelt will return the courtesy and will subsequently invite him to dinner, which will be attended by the most prominent men of the country. Everything will be done to make Prince Henry's visit a pleasant and memorable one.

The imperial yacht Hohenzollern will also be given a cordial reception. It is possible that the North American squadron may find its itinerary cut short and that it will be ordered to receive the yacht at sea, accompanying it to port and taking its share in doing honor to the Prince of Prussia. Such action would probably be good politics, as it will give Prince Henry, who is an officer of the German navy, an opportunity to see the latest American battleships. In diplomatic circles there is a disposition to regard Emperor William's friendly overtures to the United States with especial interest in view of the growing enmity between his country and Great Britain.

Britons Disliked by Germans.

The people of Germany heartily dislike Great Britain, as was shown by their criticism of the emperor's policy two years ago in fostering friendly relations with that government and by recent attacks on Great Britain.

President Roosevelt is naturally pleased at the persistence of Emperor William in endeavoring to promote friendly relations with this government. During the four months of his administration Emperor William has given positive assurances that he has no intention of occupying territory on this continent; has shown a desire to consult the United States with respect to the collection of claims from Venezuela; has asked that the president's daughter christen his new yacht; and has finally announced that his brother and his imperial yacht will pay a visit to this country.

Lost Reason in Coasting Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—John Foran, 11 years old, of Tioga, Pa., was made insane yesterday by a sledding accident. The boy was coasting on a hill near his home, when his sled collided with that of another boy. He was hurled from his sled to the icy pavement, striking his head. He was only stunned and was able to go home. Today he became insane and uncontrollable. He has been removed to St. Luke's Homeopathic hospital.

MME. NORDICA RUDELY JOLTED IN A SMASH-UP

Great Singer Thrown from Berth, Receiving Severe Bruises.

ENGINEER'S ERROR COST HIM HIS LIFE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, GA., Jan. 12.—As a result of a collision between a passenger train and a freight train on the Southern railway at an early hour this morning near Reeves station, 20 miles north of Rome, Mme. Lillian Nordica, the singer, was injured, her accompanist, E. Romaine Simmons, sustained a bruised hand, an engineer was killed and three other employes of the road were injured.

The Dead:

FRANK TRACEY, engineer, Atlanta.

Injured:

MME. NORDICA.
E. ROMAINE SIMMONS.
GUY CONNALLY, engineer on freight.
GEORGE FLORENCE, passenger conductor.
ED LEWIS, fireman (colored).

Engineer Made a Mistake.

The train to which Mme. Nordica's private car was attached was a mixed passenger and freight and left Atlanta last night for Chattanooga. It arrived at Reeves station at 3:30 o'clock this morning, where it had orders to meet freight No. 55. A freight train, which proved to be an extra, was on the siding at Reeves when the passenger arrived, and the engineer of the passenger, evidently assuming that it was No. 55, did not stop but continued his run toward Chattanooga.

A mile north of Reeves, while going at a rapid rate, the passenger met the freight on a sharp curve. The two engines crashed into each other and Engineer Tracey, in attempting to jump, was caught between the locomotives and crushed to death.

Singer Badly Shaken Up.

Mme. Nordica's car was attached to the rear of the passenger train. When the collision occurred Mme. Nordica was asleep in the private stateroom of the car. The sudden jar threw her from her bed to the floor. It is understood that she sustained a badly bruised shoulder and the muscles of her neck are said to have been strained. Dr. Garlington, the Southern railway's surgeon here, was immediately summoned and attended the singer. Dr. Garlington stated tonight that Mme. Nordica was not badly hurt and he thought she would be able to fill her engagement tomorrow night.

Mr. Simmons, her accompanist, sustained injuries to his right hand. The exact condition of the injured member was not ascertained here, but it is understood he will be able to play tomorrow night.

Took Another Route.

Mme. Nordica's car was not derailed, and, together with two other Pullmans, was returned to Rome, and sent over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis to Nashville, where they are expected to arrive early Monday morning.

Both engines were badly wrecked and 12 cars, it is said, were burned. The engineer and fireman of the freight escaped by jumping, but were both badly bruised. The tracks were cleared by night and traffic resumed.

SCHLEY ATTENDS CHURCH.

Silent Crowds Respectfully Salute the Victor of Santiago as He Passes.

SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 12.—Admiral W. S. Schley passed a quiet day at the home of Gen. W. W. Gordon, where he is visiting. He attended religious services this morning at Christ church, Episcopal, and this evening at the Independent Presbyterian church. Each house was crowded with attendants upon the services.

There was no demonstration in either building, though at both the streets were lined with people before and after the services. Men raised their hats to the distinguished visitor and women bowed to him, but there was no cheering nor handclapping.

It had been on the program for the admiral and Mrs. Schley to take a carriage drive this afternoon, but the blustery and cold weather kept them indoors. It is probable that Admiral Schley will be initiated by the Mystic Shriners during the week.

THE EXPEDITION TO LOBOO WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Number of Barracks and Hamlets and Rations for 20,000 Filipinos Destroyed.

ENTIRE TOWN DESTROYED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, Jan. 12.—The news received from Batangas province is cheerful. The expedition to Loboo, in Batangas, has been a complete success. The columns, under Colonels Wint and Wells, have destroyed a large number of barracks and hamlets and enough rations to keep 20,000 Filipinos for six months. There was not a single American casualty during the entire expedition. The enemy fled before the Americans, many of them were killed and several surrendered.

Major Henry Allen, formerly governor of the Island of Leyte and now chief of the insular constabulary, who has been making a tour of inspection through the islands of Leyte and Mindanao, has returned to Manila and reports that the native constabulary is fully able to control the situation in the province of Misamis, in Northern Mindanao, where he thinks the situation has been much exaggerated.

Previous reports concerning this province caused Generals Davis and Wade to request that it be returned from civil to military control.

With the exception of the church, the entire town of Quingua, in Bulacan province, Luzon, has burned to the ground and thousands of Filipinos have been rendered homeless.

"MARRIED AT HOME."

Senator Depew Says the Constitution, Flag and a Bible Blotted Out the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Senator Depew and his bride were so busy receiving callers and messages of congratulations today that they were even stopped on their way to church and turned back home again.

"So you see," said the senator, "that is the reason we didn't get to church on our first Sunday at home. I won't tell you whom we met who wouldn't let us go to church, but it was not our fault. We had to come back."

Just then, and this was late in the afternoon, Mrs. Depew came into the room. "Do you think I can slip away for a little ride now?" she said.

"I think you can," answered the senator, taking her hand, "if you will be quick and quiet about it."

Mrs. Depew slipped away to her carriage dressed in a long gray traveling coat and wearing the same hat and dress as the day before, when she came off the steamer. "You see," she said, looking at her husband, "we have not unpacked yet, though we are not going on to Washington until Tuesday."

"We were really married in the United States," said the senator. "You see, Consul Van Buren, who married us, did a very neat thing. He had a silk American flag on the table in front of him, a bible on one side of it, and the constitution of the United States on the other side. That is all there is to this country, so you see we felt at home."

At dinner tonight there was only a house party at the senator's table, he having declined all invitations to go out. He and his wife, his son "Buster," and Miss Paulding were there. Among those who called at the house today were D. O. Mills, Horace Duval, Creighton Webb and Mrs. James Kernochan.

YANKEE DRIVER WOULDN'T STOP.

Guardsman Injured While Preventing Collision Between Carriages of Emperior William and Ambassador White.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—After a conference with the imperial chancellor, Count von Buelow, at the official residence of the latter, Emperor William today drove through Potsdam place on his way to the Potsdam depot. When Guardsman Oden, who was posted there, saw the imperial carriage coming, he ordered all other vehicles, of which there were very many, to halt and make room for the emperor. All drivers obeyed but the driver of the American ambassador, Mr. White, who drove on notwithstanding the order. The guardsman thereupon took hold of the bridles of the latter's horses with such force that one of the horses fell and Oden was thrown to the ground underneath the horse. One of his legs was seriously injured and he had to be taken to the City hospital.

CHILEAN VESSEL MADE THE PREY OF A COLOMBIAN

Military Commander at Panama Takes Forcible Possession of the Steamer Lautaro After Money Was Refused.

ANOTHER SOUTH AMERICAN WAR MAY BE THE RESULT

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

PANAMA, COLOMBIA, Jan. 12.—Although it was announced that the South American Steamship Company of Chile had refused to charter the Lautaro to the Colombian government for use as a gunboat, Gen. Alban, the military commander of the district, today promulgated a decree appropriating the vessel. He has forcibly taken possession of the Lautaro and is having her put in condition. Gen. Alban has deposited a sum which he considers equal to her value with a Panama banker in payment for the vessel.

It is said that the captain and crew of the Lautaro will enter the service of the Colombian government. The boat is being equipped to attack the war vessels of the insurgents. Cannon are being mounted on her and she will probably sail tomorrow to attack the fleet of the Colombian liberals.

Bore Chilean Soldiers.

The Lautaro arrived here a few days ago with 39 officers and 250 sailors of the Chilean navy, who are en route for England to man the new Chilean warships purchased by the Santiago government. The Lautaro was chartered by Chile to bring the officers and men to this port. When Gen. Alban, with his secretary and the captain of the port, took possession of the Lautaro, the agent of the South American Steamship Company was present.

In view of the present restless and unstable condition of affairs throughout South America, it is not at all improbable that another serious complication at this time between Colombia and Chile will result from the seizure.

Finance Minister Appointed.

Gen. Jaime Cordoba, formerly governor of the department of Cauca, has been appointed minister of finance by the acting president, Dr. Marroquin. He is on his way to Bogota to assume the duties of his office. Dr. Padia Mendez remains as the minister of foreign relations.

The British cruiser, War Sprite, sailed south yesterday.

The United States cruiser, Philadelphia, which left Panama January 9 for Las Labelos, has not yet returned.

Say They Will Urge Peace.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, Jan. 12. (via Galveston, Tex.)—President Zelaya, the ministers of his cabinet and several other Nicaraguan officials have left here for the port of Corinto, on the Pacific, where they will meet and confer with the presidents of the other states of Central America, who will assemble there upon the invitation of President Zelaya.

Gen. Terencio Sierra, president of Honduras, and Gen. Tomas Regalado of Salvador are already on their way to Corinto. The presidents of the other republics, or their representatives, are reported intending to go to Corinto later. The object of these meetings is declared to be the preservation of peace. They will occur January 15 and 17.

KIEL, Jan. 12.—The German cruiser, Gazelle, has left here for Venezuelan waters.

VALPARAISO, Jan. 12.—The Chilean congress has authorized a loan of £2,500,000.

TOM L. JOHNSON'S NEW BILLS READY IN LEGISLATURE

Cleveland Mayor Proposes to Tax Corporations Upon Their Earning Capacity.

BOND ISSUES INCLUDED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12.—The Cleveland delegation, with some of the Tom L. Johnson taxation measures, arrived in Columbus today. The bills were in charge of W. B. Mesel, secretary of the delegation, and he would unfold but a few of them. One of the bills is to amend the statutes relating to the work of the state board of equalization of railroads. The proposed law provides that this board shall have the power to increase or to decrease the valuation of the railroads of the state as returned by the county auditors. The present board claims that under the law it has not this power, and when Johnson demanded that the assessment of the railroads of the state be increased over 35 per cent the board refused, on the ground of lack of authority. Johnson then brought a suit in mandamus which is now pending in the supreme court of the state.

Another bill provides that auditors of counties shall have the power to examine all books of corporations to learn their per cent of profit and that corporations shall be taxed upon their earning capacity.

There are a number of bills providing for bond issues for Cleveland. Among them is one of $1,500,000 for park purposes, $2,000,000 to complete a system of intercepting sewers, $500,000 for streets, $400,000 for schools, $25,000 for free public bath houses and $10,000 for free band concerts in the public parks.

OXYGEN RESTORED LIFE.

Man Who Was Apparently Dead for Two Minutes Revived by Use of the Powerful Gas.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Oxygen brought back to life today a man who had been considered dead for fully two minutes. William Mason, 22 years old, of No. 414 Moyer street, was taken to St. Mary's hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and shortly afterward apparently ceased breathing.

The physicians pumped oxygen into his lungs, and to their surprise he revived. It is now thought he will recover. How and where Mason received his injuries the police have been unable to learn.

Boxers Now at Chinese Court.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Standard cables that 7,000 of the bodyguard of the dowager empress of China who joined in the attack on the foreign legations at Peking under Prince Tuan, returned to Peking with the Chinese court.

Russian Wires Cross the Border.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 12.—A report has been received here from Seoul, Corea, to the effect that Russia, without waiting for Corea's permission, has pushed its telegraph line across the Toomen river into Corean territory.

ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS IN FEVER SLASH THROATS

Both Had Been Sick and One Had But Recently Returned from Manila.

ONE DEAD, ONE MAY LI

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 12.—Assistant Surgeon J. J. Buchanan, U. S. N., cut his throat with a razor, dying while delirious, today at his ward in the naval hospital on Coasters Harbor island. He was assigned to duty on the Constellation January 2. About that date he was taken ill with typhoid fever and was sent to the naval hospital.

Dr. Buchanan recently received his appointment from Texas, coming to this station from the cruiser Columbia. He was 24 years old.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Capt. W. J. D. Horne of the Ninth cavalry, U. S. A., made a deliberate attempt at suicide last night in an O'Farrell street fruit store, owned by A. Dalporto. The proprietor was dressing a chicken in the rear part of the store, when the captain walked hastily up to him and asked whether the knife he was using was sharp. "It is," said Dalporto, and in an instant Horne grabbed it and slashed himself across the throat.

Dalporto grappled with the captain, and a desperate struggle followed, in which Dalporto received a slight gash on the right side of the neck. The shouting and the scuffle between the two men brought a crowd, and with the aid of several men Horne was overpowered and taken to a hospital. He probably will recover from his wounds.

Capt. Horne arrived from Manila in December. While in the service at Manila he was seriously ill, suffering from dysentery and fever, and has been an invalid for some time. He was to have appeared soon before a retiring board.

PETITION TO ROOSEVELT.

President Is Requested to Stop Shipments of Mules and Horses to South Africa.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—The Chicago branch of the American Transvaal league held a meeting here tonight and adopted a petition calling upon President Roosevelt to enforce the neutrality law. A large number of signatures of prominent men—judges, lawyers and others—was obtained.

The petition is in the form of an argument and sets forth that the United States is conceded to be a neutral nation in the war between Great Britain and the South African republic. It is contended that if the augmentation of Great Britain's military supplies from the port of New Orleans were stopped the South African war would come to a speedy end. It is urged that horses and mules designed for use in military operations are within the meaning of the term "military supplies," as used in the treaty of Washington. The president, therefore, is called upon to enforce strictly article VI of that treaty.

TEACHERS' TOUR WELL RECEIVED BY OUR FRIENDS

Educators, Press and People Generally Pleased With the Prospect.

MANY ARE IN CONTEST

Fresh Names Added to the List Every Day as the Interest Increases—Some Advice About the Marking and Handling of Ballots.

The reception accorded the offer of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph to give 25 public school teachers a free tour of Europe next summer, by the teachers, the suburban and rural press and the general public, is most gratifying. With few exceptions our contemporaries have had only kind words and several of them have shown a lively appreciation of the advantages to a teacher of a season of foreign travel.

This tour, which embraces so much of historical and literary interest, beautiful scenery, examples of the world's best architecture, treasures of art, archaeology and natural history, must be highly instructive to any person with the educational training of a teacher. But it is not the purpose of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph merely to obtain information for the teachers who are preferred by their readers, but to give them amusement, pleasure and health-restoring rest. All are delightfully combined in the ocean voyages and the tours of Great Britain and the continent.

Provisions for Comfort.

The itinerary includes all places of chief interest and the plans provide for carriage drives as well as the swifter means of long-distance travel so the members may see everything worth seeing. As is well known, Europe has no system of checking baggage as we have [illegible]—though it is an inexplicable mystery why this great convenience is overlooked—but representatives of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph will endeavor to relieve the guests of these papers from much of the annoyance travelers ordinarily have on this score. The European traveler thinks nothing of following the wheelbarrow on which a porter is transporting his luggage, but the American who has had no experience in touring Europe is not accustomed to the undignified proceeding, essential as it may be to the safety of his personal belongings. Any traveler can well find better use for his time.

During the past few days the names of about 100 candidates have been announced in The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, and ballots have been received for about as many more. So any teacher who has been thinking about entering the contest can see he or she will have plenty of company, and good company, too. The offer is open to any man or woman actually engaged in teaching in any school supported by public funds, during the current term, that is, between the opening and closing of the contest. Of course, many candidates divide the vote, and not so many ballots will be required to win as if there were but few candidates. This is an advantage, for it would be unfair to exclude teachers from the least populous sections.

More Candidates to Consider.

There are more candidates to announce. Here are a few names that have just come in: From Pittsburgh and Allegheny there are to be 12 members of the party of 25, and these may be some of them, who knows? Miss Clara Kirschbaum, Holmes school, Pittsburgh; Miss Amelia Semmelrock, Beltzhoover school, Pittsburgh; Miss Minnie E. Patterson, Larimer school, Twenty-first ward, Pittsburgh; Miss Bessie Maud McClure, Hiland school, Pittsburgh; Miss Stella H. Williams, Irwin Avenue school, Second ward, Allegheny; Miss Ada M. Eggers, Boyle street, Allegheny; Miss Mary C. Greves, Sixth ward schools, Allegheny; Miss Ella Linton, Irwin Avenue school, Second ward, Allegheny.

In the division, Allegheny county, outside the cities of Allegheny and Pittsburgh, there will be six winners. Here are a few more candidates from that division: Miss Annie Megraw, a teacher in the schools of Reserve township; Mr. Ole W. Burroughs, teacher in the Bellevue schools, is put forward by one of his pupils, who truthfully says his teacher has as good a chance as any one else. The chance is open to all, and success will come to those who get the most votes.

Advice About the Ballots.

While nearly all of the ballots received have been in good condition, a word more of advice on this score may not be amiss. First, it is imperatively necessary that the ballot shall be filled out legibly, with the full name of teacher, name of school, town or township and county. The ballots must not be torn or mutilated, and those who consult our convenience will send them in flat, seeing that they are not rolled or crumpled.

Ballots of each series must be sent in within 15 days after the close of that series or they will not be counted. Papers will not be sold to any one in wholesale quantities for voting purposes. Names of candidates will be printed, but no information concerning the number of votes cast for any person will be made public until the contest is closed and the winners announced. The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph want to make the competition absolutely fair and have taken every precaution to have it so.

CHILDREN WERE SOLD ACCORDING TO PROGRAM

Salvation Army Auction of Urchins at Youngstown Was Not Well Patronized.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 12.—The proposed auction of children by Capt. F. A. McDiarmid of the Salvation Army created all of the excitement before the sale and little when it really came off. When the announcement was made that the children would be sold there was a violent protest made on every side. The authorities announced that it would not be allowed, and the G. A. R. threatened violence if it should be attempted. The management of the theater where it was to be held advertised that it would not take place.

In consequence, when the sale started there was but a small crowd present. The children were mostly those of officers of the army from Cleveland. The auctioneer was Capt. Strubell of Cleveland, who placed the children on the block. Wealth, society, pleasure and fame all made their bids for the children, but they were finally awarded to Christianity and their lives dedicated to the cause.

Capt. McDiarmid was bitterly disappointed at the outcome of his scheme, and placed the blame on the management of the theater.

DEAD COMRADES HONORED.

Col. James H. Childs Post, G. A. R., Held Annual Memorial Services Last Night.

The annual memorial service of Col. James H. Child's post, No. 230, G. A. R., was held last night at the Central Christian church, Colwell and Pride streets. Commander James Matthews presided during the service, which was opened with prayer by the Rev. C. L. Thurgood, pastor of the church. After a short address by Commander Matthews Chaplain Jacob Delaney announced the names of the six comrades who had died during the year, and Adjutant John N. Taylor read their records. He delivered an address, in which each of the dead veterans were eulogized in a touching manner. The members of the post who died during the year were George F. McCord, Daniel Boyle, Frederick Weidemeyer, William R. Ford, Bernhart Shad and Samuel Gibson.

The memorial address was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Thurgood, who spoke on "We Are Going Down the Valley." He said that each year brought the veterans nearer the last great bivouac, and in a short time the Grand Army would be but a memory. The service was brought to a close with the singing of the doxology and the pronouncing of a benediction by Mr. Thurgood. An excellent musical program was furnished during the service by the church choir and several soloists.

EXCLUSION ACT WAS TALKED OVER

WESTERN CONGRESSMEN HOLD A MEETING IN WASHINGTON.

Listened to Arguments for Special Legislation from Representatives of the California Commission and of the American Federation of Labor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—There was a session today of the special committee of western senators and representatives engaged in the consideration of Chinese legislation. Mr. Newlands of Nevada acted as chairman.

The meeting was held for the purpose of hearing arguments on the subject from Messrs. Livernash, Beale and Furuseth, representing the California commission now here, and Mr. Gustadt and other representatives of the federation of labor. The members of these two bodies had prepared an exclusion bill which they believed would form the basis of legislation satisfactory to the interests they represent and it formed the feature of the discussion by the congressmen and their visitors.

Liberal to Exempts.

This bill re-enacts specifically various exclusion laws now in force and adds certain provisions designed to prevent the migration of Chinese between the United States and its insular possessions or vice versa. Its provisions are described as liberal in the treatment of what are known as the exempt classes, including merchants, students, travelers and officials.

The purpose in view, the speaker declared, was to prevent the industrial competition of the Chinese as laborers. Their wish was to promote commercial relations with the Chinese and not to harass any of those who had a right to be here. The measure also had other features designed to secure the proper and certain administration of the exclusion acts and otherwise strengthen the hands of the treasury department in the enforcement of the law.

Immigration Bureau Represented.

Mr. Dunn, representing the immigration bureau of the treasury department, also was present, and in answer to inquiries, explained the attitude of the bureau, whose desire, he said, was to perfect the administration of the law, leaving it to congress to shape such new legislation as was necessary to meet conditions that had arisen.

The special committee will meet Wednesday to further consider the exclusion acts. Meantime there will be a conference of the California commission, the labor interests, the immigration officials and representatives of the attorney general's office, at which an effort will be made to reach a common understanding for legislation on the exclusion question.

SUGGESTED A CHANGE.

United Labor League Discussed Another Set of Resolutions Condemning the Administration.

The United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania again delved into the Pittsburgh political situation last night and discussed a new set of ringing resolutions denouncing the present Pittsburgh administration and withholding from it for all time support at the polls. Members were not quite satisfied with the action taken at the last meeting, which was of the same intent, and the new resolutions were presented to be sent to all labor organizations in the form of a circular to influence co-operation.

The meeting was not a fully representative one. Partly on this account as well as on the suggestion of Master Workman John Fernau of the Pittsburgh district Knights of Labor that the regular routine be observed to make any desirable changes, the resolutions were referred to the committee on legislation to report at the next meeting. Members of the league who lead a controlling faction say that there is no question but that the league will enroll itself against the administration in the passage of these resolutions and act against it through their constituents at the polls. They say that the regular plan of having the legislation committee first pass on the resolutions would have been waived if the meeting had been a more representative one.

The legislative committee which was appointed last night for the ensuing year by Chairman William Boate is composed of J. J. Kane of the plumbers, George Churchill of the West End Traction assembly, George Miller of the stone masons, Peter F. Mulvahill of the slate and tile roofers, and William Boate of the railroad conductors.

The chair named all standing committees for the year, the one next important to that on legislation being on organization, as follows: John Fernau, Frank Colley, J. J. Zimmer, M. O'Sullivan and Alexander Hunter.

The new officers of the league were installed. A committee was appointed to act with the building trades council to meet the Union station contractors in the effort to settle the station strike.

DAY TO BE OBSERVED.

Bishop Whitehead Will Celebrate 20th Anniversary of His Consecration.

The Rt. Rev. Cortland Whitehead, D. D., bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pittsburgh, will celebrate on January 25 the twentieth anniversary of his consecration as bishop. The day will be observed as one of thanksgiving and prayer. The bishop has addressed a letter to the clergy and laity urging them to prayer and thanksgiving on that day.

Bishop Whitehead was the first appointed bishop of this diocese. Within the past 20 years 65 new churches have been opened, of which 36 are consecrated. There are now 85 clergymen, with five vacancies to fill, 108 churches and chapels, five in process of building, 66 missions and 29 missionaries.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 12.—By arrangement with Charles Frohman, William Gillette's dramatization of "Sherlock Holmes" was produced at the Grand theater here last night. The title role was taken by Manuel Mivin of Berlin.

The house was crowded and the play was enthusiastically received.

EVERETT-MOORE PROSPECT BRIGHTER

NEW YORK BANKERS CONSENT TO AN EXTENSION.

Creditors Have a Plan to Assist the Syndicate in Keeping Its Properties, and at the Same Time Arrange for Settling Liabilities.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 12.—Henry A. Everett arrived home from New York today. He substantiated the statement already made that he had been successful in obtaining the consent of New York bankers to the extension agreement.

A large majority in amount of the creditors of the Federal Telephone Company, owned and controlled by the Everett-Moore syndicate, were in session all day here today. A large part of the conference was taken up in discussing various proposals for the purchase of the entire properties.

Creditors have expressed a desire to stand by the syndicate, and, if possible, assist them in keeping the property under their control. They favor depositing all the stocks and bonds of the constituent companies owned by the Federal Telephone Company in some big trust company to be used as collateral security for a new issue of bonds, these bonds to be accepted as payment for the claims held by the creditors, and thus enable the syndicate to go on with the operation of the company and keep it under its control.

If the plan goes through it will furnish ready money to finish uncompleted plants, principally at Detroit and Dayton. The bankers' committee has had one bonafide offer for the sale of the entire Federal system, the offer coming, it is said, from the Bell Telephone Company, whose representatives are said to be in the city watching the outcome of the matter. It is said that the committee will not consider this offer. Tentative offers have been made by Judge Thomas of New York, representing C. W. Morse, also of New York. An offer from John R. McLean of Cincinnati has also been received. It is probable that a fourth bidder will be in the field within a few days. None of these deals can go through until the plans of the bankers' committee become operative. In addition it is positively stated that there is now no chance for the sale of the properties at an upset price.

The bankers' committee will resume its sessions tomorrow afternoon, and the situation has so far cleared that it will probably be unnecessary to hold more than tri or semi-weekly sessions henceforth.

THE SNOW STORM KEPT PARK VISITORS AWAY.

Small Crowds Yesterday—An African Baboon Got Into Trouble at the Highland Zoo.

The blustry winter weather yesterday caused a dearth of visitors at the parks. Of course there are people who will take chances on their health and brave all kinds of weather, but they are not many, as was found at the Carnegie Institute and the Highland Zoo. Shortly after dinner the snow began to fall and before the afternoon had very far advanced the white mantle of the beautiful had covered the parks.

At the Zoo the keepers had a job out of the ordinary on Saturday. "Blacksmith," the golden baboon, whose original home was in Africa, became curious during the painting of the top part of his cage. He placed himself in a corner and watched intently the work of the painter.

A large bucket of gray paint which was placed on the top of the cage was investigated by "Blacksmith," and watching his chance he made a grab for it and succeeded in upsetting the contents all over himself. His screams of fright scared the other monkeys, and their yells set all the animals in the Zoo roaring. Even the two elephants set up a loud trumpeting.

"Blacksmith" was finally quieted and taken from his cage to the engine room, where he was given a bath. Most of the paint was gotten off his coat, but his face is still streaked with it, giving him a very comical appearance. This is the reason why he was not in his accustomed cage yesterday.

The eggs were taken from under the crowned pigeons yesterday, after a 14 days' setting. Superintendent Earnest Tretow said that an examination showed no life in them. The nest which had been made in a basket is allowed to hang on the tree in the pigeon house.

There was a straggling stream of people during the afternoon to the Phipps conservatory. Superintendent William Falconer said that he had never seen the day since he had been in charge so stormy or cold that there was not a fair number of visitors to the conservatory.

The attendance at the free organ recital was about half as large as the previous Sunday. There were many vacant seats all over the music hall. The recital was given by N. J. Corey of Detroit, Mich. The program was well received and each number vigorously applauded.

PITTSBURGHERS RESENT SLIGHT UPON THE CITY

The Rev. Dr. Robert T. Nichols Ignores Residents in Social Directory.

AROUSED ANGER RESULTS

Prominent Citizens and Members of Colonial Dames and Daughters of American Revolution Take Umbrage at Author,s Ignorance.

In a dispatch from Chicago last night the information was given that the Rev. Dr. Robert T. Nichols of New York, who says he is a lineal descendant of Robert II. of Scotland, had just completed the compiling of a social directory of the United States.

Dr. Nichols, in his directory of those, who, by birth or attainments, reach his standard of eligibility to the highest society circles entirely ignore the city of Pittsburgh, although numerous families in other leading cities and towns of the country are given as of sufficiently high standing to move in the upper social sets.

It was with considerable difficulty that expressions were secured from members of leading Pittsburgh families last night, in regard to the matter. Most of those interviewed were of the opinion that Dr. Nichols must be ignorant of the history of the country of which he has apparently appointed himself the social arbiter.

Ignored Noted Men.

The fact that not one of the many families of this city, whose names are written on almost every page of this country's history, and not one of those residents of this city, who have been noted throughout the land for their eminence in their walks of life, are included in this list, is evidence, according to the universal view taken last night, that the author is either ignorant or prejudiced.

Dr. Nichols seems to think that because of his alleged descent he is entitled to determine the standing of the citizens and families of this country, but his actions afforded ground for much sarcastic and amused comment here last night.

The first sentiment that appeared to strike the average person who was approached on the subject was amazement, followed by anger, which quickly died out in amusement. There was a general curiosity as to the standing and personality of the man who was putting himself up as the social authority of the land.

Not Widely Known.

In response to telegrams in regard to his identity, the only answers were that there was a Presbyterian minister in New York by that name, but he had not yet attained any wide prominence in social or religious circles.

Many of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Colonial Dames and other members of prominent and well-known families were quick to take up arms in Pittsburgh's defense, but they wound up by saying that the list prepared by Dr. Nichols was nothing less than an absurdity, and really deserved no serious comment.

The men who were talked with last night generally treated the matter as beneath their consideration, although some of them were indignant over the slur put on the city.

Maj. Denny Amused.

Maj. Harmar D. Denny, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and of the Pittsburgh club, a descendant of Maj Ebenezer Denny, whose family has been identified with the business and social history of Pittsburgh from its very organization, was very much amused at the action of Dr. Nichols.

Any one can, in his own conceit, compile such a book, but that does not mean that it is an authority," he said. "Pittsburgh has succeeded in progressing in a social and business way for many years without the assistance of this Dr. Nichols and his book, and Pittsburgh people and their position all the world over is established. It will not be necessary to consult books of that class to discover regarding them the information he publishes about others.

"The genealogy and history of the leading people of Pittsburgh is written in books of official record, of the national and state governments, and in ignoring this community, either through ignorance or stupidity, his book is incomplete and without value. He probably became tired out before he finished his work."

Miss McKnight's Opinion.

Miss Kate Cassatt McKnight, another descendant of Maj. Ebenezer Denny, who is one of the managers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and a Colonial Dame, simply smiled when asked what she thought of the omission of Pittsburgh people from Dr. Nichols' book.

"If Dr. Nichols has ignored the residents of Western Pennsylvania in compiling such a record he simply makes himself ridiculous, for not to know us argues himself unknown. Who is Dr. Nichols? A descendant of Robert II. of Scotland? Well, he has certainly paid very little attention to the history of his own blood and kin in not following the great number of Scotch people of prominence who came early to this country and settled hereabouts.

"I venture to say that if he had made inquiry he would have discovered more people descended from royal blood residing in and about Pittsburgh and Allegheny than he has found in New York. The history of the colonial wars and the war of the Revolution could have furnished him with the names of many men who were prominent officers and whose descendants are now prominent in society and business circles in Western Pennsylvania.

"It is a matter of little or no concern, however, to people who are easy in their social standing whether their names appear in Dr. Nichols' book or not; it may be a matter of worry to those who seek such publicity, but it will not cause any heartburnings here."

List Is Ridiculous.

Miss Julia Morgan Harding, secretary of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and a Colonial Dame, said:

"I do not know who Dr. Nichols is, and never heard of him, but the idea of making a list such as he is said to have done and leaving out a city like Pittsburgh is absurd. Taking into consideration the importance of the city, the number of well-known colonial and revolutionary families represented here, and the eminence attained by many of our citizens, any attempt to put a slight upon the city only makes the author ridiculous. No list of this kind can be authoritatively compiled at any time, but that its originator and author should pass entirely over a city such as this merely argues his own lack of knowledge and renders his work absolutely without value. He has missed an opportunity and it is his own loss, entirely."

Better to Be Left Out.

"I think Pittsburgh people will be more conspicuous by their names being left out of Rev. Dr. Nichol's book than they would have been by being included in the his so-called list of society people of the country," said Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, register of the local chapter of Daughters of Revolution. "Perhaps Pittsburgh people have asked Dr. Nicholds to omit their names from his list. Some people do not care to proclaim from the house-tops that they are descendants of royalty," added Mrs. Marsh.

"I have never heard of Rev. Dr. Nichols are his book," said Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, president of the local chapter, D. A. R. "That Dr. Nichols has not heard of Pittsburgh must be because he is unknown himself. There are some older cities than Pittsburgh, but Pittsburgh contains some of the oldest families of the country."

"Dr. Nichols should come and visit Pittsburgh and then he would be better qualified to speak as an authority on who are the best people of the country," said Miss Mary McCandless of the East End, descendant of a well-known family and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Child Fatally Scalded.

Mary P. Sherman, the 3-year-old daughter of L. D. Sherman of No. 1970 East Ohio street, Allegheny, died at 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening from burns received on Saturday afternoon by falling into a bucket of hot water. The child's mother was preparing to do some scrubbing and had set a bucket of hot water on the floor when the child in play tripped and fell into it.

OFFICERS OF BRICKLAYERS' INTERNATIONAL UNION

George P. Gubbins, President International Union.

William J. Bowen, First Vice President.

M. P. Canty, Second Vice President.

Patrick Murray, Treasurer.

E. A. Moffit, Editor Official Journal.

Joseph Henry, President Local No. 2.

Daniel Gildenew, Pittsburgh Business Agent.

The Second brigade band of 40 pieces will this morning head a column of 327 delegates to the annual convention of the Bricklayers and Masons International Union, which will march from headquarters at the Monongahela house to Central Turner hall in Forbes street for the opening of the convention. The delegates will assemble at the Monongahela house at 9 o'clock this morning and will march on Smithfield street, to Third avenue, to Wood street, to Fifth avenue, to Chestnut street, to Forbes street and the hall.

The convention work of the day will be largely preliminary. Committees will be named and the committee on credentials will take up its work, to finally organize the convention for business. The national officers, who have been here for several days, have passed on the credentials, and it is understood that 327 delegates will be reported for seats. The eastern delegation, 100 strong, arrived on the Pennsylvania railroad last night, leaving few more delegations to arrive early this morning.

President Joseph Henry of the Pittsburgh local union, in a brief address will introduce Dr. J. Guy McCandless, director of the department of public works, who will make an address of welcome for the city. Refusal of Recorder J. O. Brown to show the visiting delegates this consideration has given rise to much ill-feeling on the part of the Pittsburgh organization against the city administration, and members do not hesitate to say that they will not support the administration at the polls.

Ex-Recorder A. M. Brown had promised to deliver an address of welcome, but his removal from office naturally led to the present recorder being invited. It will remain for Dr. McCandless today and the organization later to smooth the ruffled feelings of the Pittsburgh bricklayers, of whom 2,000 are organized here, forming a strong political factor.

The history of the bricklayers' organization has more than passing interest. It was organized in Philadelphia in 1865, grew rapidly, and was a mainstay of the Knights of Labor for years. After the panic of 1873 it was disorganized till only three locals remained. There was a rapid recovery after this and the organization now has 67,000 members and a fat treasury. In the past 16 years the organization has expended $2,000,000 for beneficial purposes and not since 1893 has any strike assessment been levied.

A strong element in the organization promises defeat for the proposition to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor if this is brought up.

MANY STUDENTS HURT IN GROVE CITY CLASS FIGHT

SENIORS WERE ROUTED

Damaged Seats in Chapel to Be Charged to the Juniors.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GROVE CITY, PA., Jan. 12.—The senior and junior classes of Grove City college had a class fight yesterday over the selection of seats in the chapel, resulting in a number of bruised faces, and some damage to property. For some years the members of the senior class have been allowed to sit in a certain part of the chapel, but when the seats were assigned for the term the juniors decided to take matters into their own hands. To this end, early in the morning they gathered in the chapel and locked the doors, refusing admittance to all others until just before chapel time, when they opened the doors and then took possession of the seniors' seats.

By this time nearly all the seniors had gathered outside the room, and when the doors were opened they went for their seats, only to find them occupied. After a number of seats had been broken, the hats and clothing of the fighters damaged and several students bruised, the seniors yielded and left the juniors in possession of the seats.

When Dr. J. C. Ketler, president of the institution, arrived he made the juniors give up the seats to the seniors and also told the former that they would have to pay for the damage to the seats.

Parochial School Dedicated.

ALTOONA, PA., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—The St. Bridget's parochial school building at Lilly was dedicated today by the Rt. Rev. E. A. Garvey, bishop of the Altoona diocese. A large number of priests from the diocese were present. The school will open tomorrow with 400 pupils.

Cruisers Leave Villefranche.

NICE, Jan. 12.—The United States cruisers Chicago and Albany and the gunboat Nashville have left Villefranche for Genoa, to await the arrival of Rear Admiral J. B. Cromwell.

ELKIN HAS OPENED PICTURE CAMPAIGN

The Attorney General Has Launched Candidacy for Governor.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 12.—Attorney General Elkin's candidacy for governor has reached the picture stage. Large pictures of Elkin with a fac simile of his autograph have made their appearance in the departments on Capitol hill the past few days. In the elevator shaft in the executive building and other places pictures of Senator Quay have been removed to make room for those of Elkin.

These pictures, with the information that the attorney general is a "candidate for governor, Republican state convention, 1902," will be sent to every Republican county chairman in Pennsylvania after the meeting of the Indiana county Republican committee on January 20, when the Elkin boom will be formally launched and a committee appointed to take charge of his canvass.

Elkin's office on Capitol hill resembles a political headquarters since his return from a visit to Senator Quay in Florida. Here Elkin meets his adherents from adjacent counties to confer on the situation in their counties and the prospects of the election of delegates friendly to him. Now that he has gotten rid of the state tax cases, which have required much of his attention, Elkin will give more time to his candidacy.

MANY WITHOUT HOMES.

Boom at Steubenville Causes Poor People to Reside in Tents and Stables.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—The boom here and the lack of buildings to accommodate people who are moving here is working hardships to many, especially the poor. Several families are arranging to erect tents on the river band and live in them. Stables are being remodeled into places of abode in some instances.

Rents have increased and this is falling hard on the poor class, especially the negro population.

Did Not Stop Street Cars.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Zanesville experienced another closed Sunday today, but Mayor Holden backed down on his declared intention of stopping the street cars and the publication and sale of newspapers. Drug and tobacco stores and candy and fruit stands were closed as tight as the saloons.

CONGREGATION ASKS FOR REMOVAL OF PRIEST

CHARGE INCOMPETENCY

It Is Alleged the Pastor Became Enraged at the Small Subscription.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 12.—The members of the congregation of St. Anthony's Catholic church have petitioned Bishop Horstman of Cleveland, for the removal of Father Charles Doria, pastor, charging incompetency.

They allege among other things that the priest became enraged at the smallness of the subscription which he had collected from the congregation and tore the subscription book to pieces; that he had reprimanded one of his parishioners for talking to a policeman, and allowed a man under bond on a criminal charge to christen several children.

FIRE ENGINE SUNK.

Broke Through the Ice While Being Hauled Across a Canal.

ALLENTOWN, PA., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—A fire broke out at Walnutport this morning at the house of William Meckes, and the combination chemical engine and hose carriage belonging to the borough of Slatington, on the opposite side of the river, was summoned.

In order to respond quickly, the apparatus was pulled over the ice on the canal. This, however, was not strong enough to bear the weight and the engine broke through, sinking to the bottom of the canal. After several hours' work the engine was dragged out of the water without sustaining much damage.

Altoona Church Dedicated.

ALTOONA, PA., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—The handsome new brick church edifice of the Bethany Lutheran congregation in this city was dedicated today. The Rev. H. M. Hilman, pastor, was assisted in the service by the Rev. S. S. J. McDowell of Pittsburgh; Dr. G. W. Enders, York, and Isaac Krider, Duncansville, president of Allegheny synod. The entire amount of indebtedness was raised.

A CITY AT WAR WITH UNCLE SAM

Government Plans to Remove the Postoffice from Town Building.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 12.—A good-sized fight is going on here over the removal of the postoffice. It has been located in the city building for 16 years and the city kept up repairs, light and heat for $1,000 a year. This year city council raised the rent to $1,800 a year, as the government asked for repairs amounting to $1,000.

The government is planning to remove the office and an inspector has been here looking for a location. When the postoffice goes out of the dingy room it has occupied it will not rent for $300, according to postoffice authorities. The business men in a certain section oppose the removal and want the city to reduce its rent, while other business men urge the removal. A government building is being agitated.

Heavy Fall of Snow.

KENT, O., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—A blinding snowstorm has been raging here for over 50 hours. There is a two-foot fall on the level, while in places it is badly drifted, interfering with all kinds of traffic. Railroad trains and electric cars move with difficulty, all being late, and many country roads are blocked. The storm shows no sign of abatement.

Collieries to Resume Work.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Jan. 12.—The Knickerbocker and Shenandoah collieries of the Reading Coal and Iron Company and the Lawrence colliery of the Schaffer estate, which were rendered idle by the heavy floods four weeks ago, will resume operations tomorrow. About 2,000 men and boys will be given employment.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

CORRY, PA.—During the storm yesterday fire was discovered in the St. James hotel. Several of the guests had close calls from suffocation. The loss is covered by insurance.

SALEM, O.—About 150 employes of the Buckeye Engine Company's erecting department struck Saturday evening against working without being allowed time and a half for night work.

ZANESVILLE, O.—Fred Krouskoupf was killed and Robert Maxwell fatally injured by a fall of slate at Maynard's No. 37 mine yesterday. The dead man leaves a widow and four small children. Maxwell is unmarried.

ROCHESTER, PA.—The mangled remains of Albert Sthirer were found on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad tracks at Stobo, near here, yesterday. Coroner White decided that he had been struck by a train. He was 33 years old and has a brother living in Youngstown, O.

CORRECTING BOUNDARY

Surveyors Discovered Stones Misplaced Along Mason and Dixon Line.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HANOVER, PA., Jan. 12.—The surveyers employed jointly by the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland to correct the boundary line as first established by Mason and Dixon have proceeded with their work as far as Germany township, Adams county, Pa.

They report that many of the stones are displaced. The surveyors found one used as a doorsill in a dwelling, another in a church, others lying down and some at a considerable distance from the original places. All these stones will be secured and reset in their proper places.

HOSPITAL AROUSES IRE OF THE FRENCH PREMIER

Pronounces Institution at St. Etienne Only a Vestibule to the Morgue.

FRANCE MAKES PROGRESS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. ETIENNE, FRANCE, Jan. 12.—The opening of the ministerial electoral campaign here today proved an unqualified success. Since yesterday the capital of the Loire has been filled with people from the surrounding districts, and numerous visitors from Paris and other parts of France.

Besides M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the French premier, the ministers of war, marine, the colonies and commerce were in attendance, as were the principal military and civil officials of the department.

Today's ceremonies included visits to the hospital and other local institutions of St. Etienne. Upon leaving one of the hospitals which was founded in 1680, the French premier said:

"It is not a hospital that I have just visited; it is a vestibule to the morgue."

He promised to do his utmost to secure government aid in building a new one.

In the evening, at a banquet at the prefecture offered the French premier by the Republicans of the department of the Loire, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, replying to a toast to his health, made his principal speech of the day. In it he set forth the position of the government in view of the coming general elections.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau declared that since the formation of the ministry the country had acquired a security unknown for a long time and that it required an incurable pessimism not to recognize that the bad days had gone by.

He said the adoption of the law of associations had marked a decisive step forward from the point of view of economic development and its guarantees of society. Notwithstanding a prediction of agitation, the speaker said the law of associations had begun to be executed and that it would be carried out in the spirit in which it was conceived, without passion and without weakness.

Referring to the liquor legislation which had resulted in a loss to the treasury, the premier said that the transitory deceptions attributed to this law were not too heavy a price to pay for the suppression of the scourge of alcoholism which threatened the very existence of the race.

MISS STONE IS STILL CAPTIVE OF BRIGANDS

Negotiations Have Not Yet Been Opened for Her Release.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail, wiring January 11, says that negotiations for the release of the American captive, Miss Stone, and her companion, Madame Tsilka, have not yet been opened with the brigands.

M. Gargiulo, the Dragoman of the American legation, and W. W. Peet, treasurer of the missionary society in Constantinople (who have left Salonica for the interior to meet Miss Stone's captors), have been instructed, according to the correspondent, to negotiate only with persons bringing letters from Miss Stone, without which it would be impossible to be certain that the prisoners were still alive.

Bridge Gives Way Under a Train.

ROME, Jan. 12.—While a train carrying workmen to repair a suspension bridge near Brindisi was passing over it, the bridge collapsed and the train was precipitated in the river [illegible]. Several men were killed and injured.

British Capture Boer Laager.

PRETORIA, Jan. 12.—The British forces have surprised and captured a Boer laager 20 miles northwest of Ermelo. Forty-two Boers were taken, including Maj. Wolmarans.

PAY YOUR TAXES AND CAST YOUR VOTE.

All taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, January 18. That is the last day on which a tax receipt can be issued that will qualify a citizen to vote at the February city election. Voters will do well to give their immediate attention to this, for the law says no man can vote who has not paid a state or county tax within two years and at least thirty days before election day.

M. SANTOS-DUMONT OUTLINES A COMPETITION

CHAMBERLAIN HAS LARGE FOLLOWING

British Generally Approve His Attitude in the Quarrel With Germany.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The speech of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain at Birmingham is being commented upon from the party standpoint. It was delivered at the annual dinner of the Jewelers' and Silversmiths' association, an entirely non-party gathering. Mr. Chamberlain was in high spirits and spoke more deliberately than usual, puffing a cigar at intervals. His references to Count Von Buelow, the imperial chancellor of Germany, were calmly and even contemptuously given. Mr. Chamberlain's reply meets with approval from men of his own party, but in many quarters friendly to his policy regret is expressed that he should thrust his own personality so much to the front.

The Morning Post says that in this matter Mr. Chamberlain has the nation solid at his back.

The Daily Telegraph declares that Count Von Buelow has helped to make Mr. Chamberlain an even more popular and powerful figure throughout the empire.

The Daily Mail cannot forget that almost yearly Mr. Chamberlain has offended some great power. First it was Russia, then France. He irritated America by suggesting an alliance, and is now working into a quarrel with Germany which may go further. Great Britain's hands are too full in South Africa to want trouble with Germany. The Daily Mail expressed thankfulness that Mr. Chamberlain is not the British minister of foreign affairs.

No other disease is so fatal as worms. Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge eradicates these pests, and is at the same time a health-builder.

Tells How Contest in Invention of Air Ships Must Be Carried on.

WILL TRY AT ST. LOUIS

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

MONTE CARLO, Jan. 12.—M. Santos-Dumont, interviewed on the subject of aeronautic competition, which is being organized for 1903 by the St. Louis exposition authorities, with a prize of $200,000 for the inventor of the best steerable balloon, replied that on general principles he would be disposed to enter as a competitor, but that before sending in his entry he would prefer to know all the conditions of the contest. M. Santos-Dumont said he assumed the contest, full details of which he had not yet seen, would call for not simply a plan on paper of a "dirigible balloon, but the execution of the project and practical trials of the air ship in the open air."

M. Santos-Dumont said: "I am happy to see the increased interest which aerial navigation is attracting in America, and I am disposed to second the efforts of the organizers by entering for the St. Louis contest. As yet, however, I have not received any definite information on the subject. I am going to America in the near future. I hope the conditions will be short and precise, and that they will be modified in no way after the entries are made.

"Flinn and Them."

At the meeting Saturday night in the Nineteenth ward Senator Flinn said:

> I never asked a man in Pittsburgh to exert an iota of influence in any ward in the city of Pittsburgh to control any Democratic meeting.

The statement may be literally true, for it is not Senator Flinn's custom to ask his Democratic henchmen to do things. He orders them, just as he orders his other henchmen. His attitude toward them is the somewhat autocratic one of the section boss toward his laborers or the street foreman toward his pick-and-shovel gang. When Councilman Robert Sheehan, who received a Democratic renomination Saturday in the Tenth ward, was casting about a short time ago to post himself as to his political future it was not to the Democratic leaders he went, but to "Flinn and them" in the throne room on Sixth avenue. Mr. Sheehan, it will be recalled, frankly laid bare the situation to the reporters, and in seeking return to councils in the guise of a Democrat posed, not as the candidate of the Democrats, but of "Flinn and them." This is not the only case in which "Flinn and them" have bossed a Democratic job in Pittsburgh, and within a few weeks. When "Flinn and them" pull off a Democratic victory of the Sheehan sort it is never "by request," but by unmistakable order.

Canal Discussion.

The United States is today nearer the consummation of a long cherished dream of building an interoceanic canal across the isthmus that joins North and South America than ever before in its history. The proposition has in late years narrowed down to two routes, the Nicaraguan and the Panama. By the Nicaraguan route the distance from ocean to ocean would be 183.66 miles, with 73.78 miles of actual canal to dig, and the cost is approximately placed at $189,000,000. The distance by the Panama route is, exclusive of harbors, 42.03 miles and the estimated cost is placed at $144,000,000, exclusive of whatever price the Panama Company may finally agree to take for its rights and franchises, the latest announced price being $40,000,000.

These are merely the starting points in considering the selection of the route. There is much else to weigh on either side. It would be the height of folly for congress to treat the subject in any other than the most thorough manner. Investigation should be made according to the laws of common sense. The best and cheapest route should be selected, and this must be largely determined by the probable cost of operation.

Richard Croker.

The somewhat spectacular withdrawal of Richard Croker from the leadership of Tammany Hall deceives no one as to its real meaning. Mr. Croker stepped down and out because he had to, and despite his tearful surrender of power upon the plea of advancing age, everybody knows that Mr. Croker, should the opportunity present itself and the exigencies of the case make it politic, will again resume his place at the head of the big Democratic organization. Just now the wisest thing for the New York boss to do is to stand aside, and no one knows that better than Mr. Croker himself.

The victory of the reform forces in New York last fall brought the greatest surprise to Mr. Croker and his Tammany lieutenants, and the explanations that have followed and which now find a climax in Mr. Croker's tearful resignation have all been to the effect that Tammany had lost its power through the long absence of its chief and the loss by him of all other interest, other than the right to be dictatorial in the direction of affairs. It must have been rumors of this dissatisfaction with Croker previous to the late campaign that helped to bring the boss from the pleasures of the Wantage racing stables back to New York and plunge him into the fight against the reform organizations under Republican leadership. At any rate, Mr. Croker's retirement is the only possible reply to those charges. He took up the gauntlet thrown down by his critics and he must now carry out the game to the end and become the scapegoat of all Tammany's weakness and failure.

But Croker and his fellow Democrats in accepting this view of the situation are entirely selfish and nearsighted. They fail to account for an overwhelming increase in the moral sentiment against municipal corruption that the New York victory revealed. They are counting upon a return to indifference on the part of the New York voters and, therefore, a return to power and patronage of Tammany Hall, when Mr. Croker, despite his much lamented "age" would be found again in his old place of command. But may they not be counting without their host? If so, Croker's declaration that he has permanently retired from active politics will be confirmed. Otherwise he will forget his tears and again forswear Wantage for the joys of New York's official plum tree.

Promoting Elkin Sentiment.

An effort is being made to create Elkin sentiment by means of publications in the county papers. There is evident need for Mr. Elkin's managers to do something to turn the tide in his direction. The feeling is strong through the state that the local tickets would be imperiled by his nomination, and that his candidacy would at the best make Republican success all along the line more difficult. The effort to line up the county papers for him is an attempt to counteract this feeling. Were party success their first consideration it would occur to the promoters of this program that the wise course would be to stand aside and permit the Republican party to satisfy itself with a nominee in whose present and future it has implicit confidence. There are a host of Republicans in Pennsylvania who fulfill all the requirements for success. The attempt to shut them out and confine attention to one man has the flavor of a determination to prefer his fortunes to those of the party. It will be unfortunate indeed should this be pushed to the extreme of risking both at one throw.

Honors of An Ex-President.

In the case of Grover Cleveland there does not seem to be much difficulty in answering the oft discussed question, "What shall we do with our ex-presidents?" His selection as a member of the commission to promote industrial peace has been followed by his appointment as a trustee of the new Carnegie institution at Washington, and it is suggested that he be appointed as the civilian representative of the United States at the coronation exercises of King Edward. This record would be incomplete were mention omitted of his election Saturday to honorary membership in the Pennsylvania Fish Protective association.

To tell in the same paragraph these dissimilar evidences of public regard for the only surviving ex-president of the nation may to some seem incongruous, but it would be a fairly safe guess to assume that Mr. Cleveland doubtless prefers to be ranked as worthy of a place among the Pennsylvania protectors of a national sport, the fine points of which no one knows better than himself, than to play the role of representative at a king's coronation.

America's Mission.

We are told that the key-note of a series of articles written by Frank A. Vanderlip, former assistant secretary of the treasury, for Scribner's Magazine, is that "the industrial world is as yet by no means prostrate at our feet. We have before us a long campaign of hard work." But do we want to lay the industrial world "prostrate at our feet?" Is it possible or desirable? We think not, and, as a matter of fact we do not believe our long campaign of hard work does or should tend to that end. Of what advantage would it be to have a prostrate industrial world to walk on? It might feed our pride but in the long run, as an old saying has it, it would "butter no parsnips." Our mission is not to prostrate the world, but to arouse it to better efforts, and this we are doing very successfully. We may have, as Mr. Vanderlip says, "a long campaign of hard work" before us, but it is not because of what our rivals are, but because of what we are teaching them to be. The United States is progress incarnate. We have set a swift pace for the industrial world, for the commercial world, for the financial world and for other worlds too numerous to mention, and they are stimulated to emulate us. All are joining the race in which this nation leads. They may thereby make it hard work for us, but we are accustomed to work and we enjoy it. We are making the others work hard, and they don't like it, but it will be as good for them as for us, and that is a real pleasure to contemplate. If Mr. Vanderlip is animated with the idea that we want to lay our rivals prostrate and is making it his keynote, his music will be entirely out of tune with the harmonious spirit of American enterprise. We aim not to lay prostrate but to lead and uplift, and we are succeeding admirably.

False Teeth for Soldiers.

Although soldiers are no longer required to bite off the ends of cartridges the examiners of would-be warriors refuse to accept those who have unsound teeth. This qualification for military service has greatly handicapped the British authorities in their efforts to secure recruits for the army in South Africa, fully 60 per cent of the rejections of volunteers being due to defective molars. To repair this deficiency the managers of the dental hospitals in London have submitted a bid for the work of supplying artificial teeth for recruits defective in this respect, and the offer is being considered by the British war department.

Modern methods of warfare and improvements in cartridges have made the use of teeth unnecessary when a battle is in progress, but sound incisors and molars continue to be essential to the health of soldiers, thorough mastication of food being, as heretofore, an important preliminary to good digestion. The great difference in food brought about by the change from civic to military life requires the exercise of caution in accepting recruits in order to prevent the weakness and misery that would find development in an army of dyspeptics in a hostile country. If the offer is accepted by the British war office the prospect of artificial teeth will be a strong inducement, and recruits will go to the front strong in the hope that the government which furnishes them with false molars will later on make good, on the same plan, the loss of arms or legs.

William Hohenzollern's flirtatious signals to Uncle Sam with one hand, while he shakes the other fist at Venezuela, are fully up to the standard of strenuousness supposed to have a first mortgage on the affections of our vigorous president. Uncle Sam doesn't attempt to disguise the pleasure with which the delicate attentions directed toward himself inspire him, but while he cheerfully surveys the young emperor with one eye and a warm "Hoch der Kaiser" on his lips, the old man wants it understood that he has the other eye turned watchfully southward to note the manner in which the Monroe doctrine is getting along.

"Birmingham Joe" Chamberlain being something of an old war horse himself, doesn't scare at the Von Buelow cars. The little controversy he has on with the German chancellor has added much to his popularity in England, and on the other hand Von Buelow has made himself solid with the masses in Germany by his criticism of Chamberlain. The two statesmen are having the time of their lives and the people of both countries are enjoying themselves to the limit.

The obliging gentleman who runs the weather bureau seems suddenly to have awakened to the fact that this is January instead of April.

The discovery of an enormous cave in New Jersey suggests an easy way for the Jerseyites to dispose of the large surplus of senatorial candidates that they have on their hands.

New York is making a desperate and laudable effort to adapt itself to the novelty of having a really honest municipal government.

Doubtless the Panama Canal Company is much impressed with the speed and decisiveness with which the American house of representatives manages to transact business of the utmost importance.

Senator Depew has returned smiling and happy and has resumed talking at the old stand.

Mr. Croker's tearful farewells are likely to provoke emotion of an entirely different character in the neighborhood of Wolfert's Roost.

A Michigan scientist says the soul is located in the spine. Should this be proved it will further explain the uselessness of backboneless man.

The sultan of Turkey is said to be preparing for war. He has evidently made another "touch" somewhere.

Adlai E. Stevenson predicts a Democratic victory for 1904. Adlai also predicted the Democratic victory that failed to occur in 1900.

It will be observed that the Consolidated Ice Company cuts much ice.

Opposition to McKinley Day.

From the Chicago Daily News.

Illinois wants no more legal holidays. It has now eight of them each year, besides election days. Any attempt to increase the number must be regarded with unfriendly eyes. Some of the other states are equally well provided with legal holidays, and all of them have enough. Interruptions of business have reached the limit of endurance and must not be made more numerous. It is quite enough that the memory of McKinley is revered by all the people of the United States and that his great and honorable fame will last while the nation lasts.

Untaxed Millions.

From the Buffalo Express.

A Tammany member would have stock exchange seats assessed as personal property at their selling value. They would add $88,000,000 to the assessed valuation of New York. It must make the rural legislators blush to think that none of them thought of that.

His Strong Point.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

The Chicago smoke inspector has decided to be lenient for a while in dealing with violators of the anti-smoke ordinance. We might mention here that leniency is our smoke inspector's strong point.

"WHEN SHAKESPEARE COMES."

(With Apologies to Mr. Sydney Rosenfeld.)

Perhaps some time, reincarnate,
Bill Shakespeare may perambulate
To see the drama up-to-date,
On the stage of the present day;
When he sees a Lincoln Carter show,
Where the railroad trains and the steamboats go
To smash, while the people gasp "Oh! oh!"
Why, what do you think he'll say?
Bill Shakespeare, he'll look wise,
And he'll gulp down his surprise,
But it's safe to say, when he sees such a play
He'll be likely to soliloquize:
"Oh, I'm afraid I've lived in vain,
If I'd only had that railroad train,
I'd have made the melancholy Dane
Run the king with an engine down;
I'd have blown Iago out of sight
With a couple of kegs of dynamite."
You will hear him talk like that some night,
When Shakespeare comes to town.

And when he sees his own good plays,
With a ghost like a chunk of a London haze,
And a super army meets his gaze,
That looks a whole mile long;
When he sees real nags in a battle scene
And hears the clash of the fight machine
That is worked by a supe in the wings unseen,
And whoops up wild war strong,
Bill Shakespeare, he will say:
"Oh, the drama of today
Has made me think that all the ink
I used long ago was quite thrown away.
"Oh, I thought the Globe was about all right,
For we stood them up nearly every night,
But the show we gave must have been a fright."
And he'll frown a dark, dark frown.
"These plays of old looked good to me,
But I see they weren't quite one, two, three."
Will be William's sad soliloquy
When Shakespeare comes to town.

But when he sees old Bernhardt play
Great "Hamlet" in her own weird way,
When he hears that Maudie Adams may Appear as Romeo;
When he sees the hams in the wild, wild, west,
In hose and doublet fiercely dressed,
Playing Shakespeare roles their woolliest,
He'll get a knockout blow.
Bill Shakespeare he'll get sore,
And he'll say: "This, sure, is more
Than I thought I'd be obliged to see,
Not to mention having to answer for."
"Oh, I don't like to criticise,
But it seems to me that these hungry guys
Most surely ought to recognize
That they're throwing Shakespeare down;
If this sort of plays are known as mine,
I'm sorry I ever wrote a line."
And you'll see him scowl a scowl malign
When Shakespeare comes to town.

JEROME TO LIVE IN EAST SIDE GHETTO

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Jan. 12, 1902.

Jerome is the prophet of the great East Side. To him the Ghetto looks for deliverance from the bondage of indecency and immorality which rests upon it, and in the byways of that vast wilderness of strange peoples may be heard fervid prayers for the new district attorney at all times. Now it is said that he will live in the midst of the class of which he is acknowledged the champion. The report seems to be well founded that William T. Jerome, district attorney of New York, will take up his residence somewhere on the east of the Bowery, that he may watch personally the manner of living of his chosen constituency, and plan for their advantage in the light of intelligent understanding of their requirements. The departure will be an unusual one. Men like Jerome, with wealth, refined tastes and love of the society of men and women of his own station, are not disposed to make their homes in the tenement districts. But Jerome is an original chap. He does what he thinks he is commanded by his duty to do, and he does not balk even at living in a street where the smells are generally unpleasant and the customs of the people inclined to frank unconventionality. Mr. Jerome is quoted as saying that he knows Tammany will say he is fishing for votes if he goes to live on the East Side. But he does not care for that. Secure in his honesty of purpose, he added: "Well, if they see us at work in a few months, and realize that we mean what we say, they'll stop talking nonsense. The East Side is the center of everything that is good as well as that of everything bad, and by knowing it and being right in it, I shall be able to do my duty to greater advantage than I should otherwise." There is reason in what the district attorney says, and the people of the Ghetto will receive him with open arms if he does go. Already he has been so busy in his public duties that he is regarded as almost phenomenal. He is sneered at by some of his political enemies, but he does not seem to mind, and, at all events, New York will never forget that it has a district attorney so long as Jerome is the man.

Engineer Not Blamed.

Wisker, engineer of the train that ran into another in the tunnel on the New York Central the other day, spent today with his family. Although, on instruction of his counsel, he would not talk about the collision, he had lots of friends to see him today, and the good feeling evinced toward him on all sides is sufficient indication that popular sentiment does not hold him responsible for the tragedy in which fate caused him to take so prominent a part.

New Yorkers Dodging Rocks.

Blasting goes on vigorously in New York for new buildings. Once in a while too heavy a charge of dynamite goes into a hole and the street is filled with splinters of rock with jarring suddenness. Sometimes it is in Broadway and again it may be in some less prominent neighborhood. One incident of the kind occurred in East Twenty-third street yesterday. There was a loud explosion and several people were bruised more or less. New York city is built on rocks to a large extent, and excavating for foundations means the use of high explosives and a general loosening up of the geological element of this metropolis. Complaints are made every day, but the sentiment of contractors appears to be that if you live in New York you must be prepared to dodge rocks.

Operations "Easy Graft."

It is becoming the fashion for pugilists to have pieces of bone cut out of their noses. Terry McGovern likes the operation so much that he has submitted to it twice. The second time was yesterday in the Hahnemann hospital in this city. Terry was down and out in a few seconds under ether, taking the count as peacefully as if he had never fought against a knockout in his life. The surgeons say that Terry will breathe better than he ever did, and Terry himself says the operation was "an easy graft."

Will Finish the Tombs.

It is believed that the new Tombs prison will be finished by July next. If there had not been unnecessary delay caused by Tammany methods the work would have been completed in a year and a half, as originally estimated, instead of taking the five years that will be consumed. The new commissioner of corrections, Thomas W. Hynes, has taken the matter in hand vigorously and he wants to know what is the cause of all the delay. It has been a great Tammany job, this building of the Tombs, and the indications are that it will be as costly as the old Tweed county court house. It is said that it will cost at least a quarter of a million dollars more than would have been the case if Tammany had never had an opportunity to get its fingers in.

Delay Unexplained.

It is probable that within a day or two there will be from 50 to 100 arc lamps in the tunnel on the New York Central where the collision occurred last week. The company has arranged for enough electric lights to illuminate the tunnel thoroughly. While everyone is glad that this step toward making the tunnel safe has been taken, the natural question is, why was it not done long ago?

Grand Opera In Pittsburgh.

Mr. George H. Wilson, who has been in New York in the interests of the Pittsburgh orchestra, told me last evening that he has made extremely satisfactory arrangements for the coming grand opera season in Pittsburgh. It will open in Duquesne garden on the 14th of April and comprise four evenings and one matinee. Mr. Wilson said that he had had several interviews with Maurice Grau and the prospects are excellent for the most brilliant operatic season Pittsburgh has ever had. While Mr. Wilson was not at liberty to give particulars at this time he said that some new works will be presented, and that in many ways this engagement of Mr. Grau's song birds in Pittsburgh will be of more than common importance. Mr. Wilson left New York last night for Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Infant Asylum Enlarged.

Interesting ceremonies attended the opening of the new building of the New York Infant asylum at Sixty-first street and Amsterdam avenue yesterday afternoon. There was a reception by the board of managers and the ladies' committee of the asylum. There are more than 15,000 patients each year, so that there was a pressing need for more commodious quarters than the asylum has occupied for the last 20 years. There is a deficit of $125,000 in the treasury of the asylum counting the cost of the completed new building.

Chickering Hall Going.

So many landmarks of New York disappear rapidly, one after the other nowadays, that it is hard to keep a record of them. Now we are to lose Chickering hall, where so many distinguished men and women have trod its spacious platform in the 26 years or so of its existence. The property has just been sold to Henry Cohn by the Alliance Realty Company for $600,000, and an 11-story building is to be erected on the site. Chickering hall has been an important auditorium for more than a quarter of a century. The opening concert there was given by Von Bulow, the pianist, followed by Ole Bull and Emma Thursby. Famous singers that have appeared there were Anna Louise Cary, Clara Louise Kellogg, Brignoli, Campanini and, in fact, nearly all the lyrical stars that were in this country up to a few years ago. Eminent lecturers that have discoursed to immense audiences included Henry Ward Beecher, T. Dewitt Talmage, Wendell Phillips, John B. Gough, Canon Kingsley, Charles Dickens and George Augustus Sala. Many art sales have been held in the old hall, the most important being the Morgan sale in the spring of 1886, at which priceless pictures were sold. Chickering hall is very large, and, at Eighteenth street and Fifth avenue, is in a central and convenient situation. But it must go. Commerce is drawing art out of lower Fifth avenue and it is only a question of time when even Carnegie hall, at Fifty-seventh street, will be "downtown."

Roasted Mayor Strong.

It was in Chickering hall that the late W. L. Strong was so unmercifully scored by the anti-saloon element some four years ago. Mayor Strong met a delegation of liquor men in his office one day and in the course of the interview addressed them familiarly with, "Well, boys," etc. This was enough for the reformers, who were fighting liquor selling tooth-and-nail. There was a great deal of feeling and the mayor's gracious words to the saloon men caused an explosion which was set off at a mass meeting in Chickering hall. One speaker said he supposed that, now that Mayor Strong was fraternizing with saloonkeepers, and calling them "boys," no doubt soon he would go into the Haymarket and similar resorts and patting the young women there on the shoulder, address them affectionately as "girls." This mass meeting and its flings at the mayor caused a greater sensation in connection with Chickering hall than it had seen for many a long day and the affair has been brought up in conversation frequently in the last day or two, since the news of the sale of Chickering hall has been made public.

Bouquets Are Barred.

When Mrs. Patrick Campbell appears at the Theater Republic in this city tomorrow night there will be a strict rule that there shall be no flowers handed over the footlights. This will be striking at a dear privilege of the first nighter in New York. Ordinarily there are so many flowers handed up that the star is likely to be embarrassed. This is exactly what Mrs. Pat fears. She does not want the flowers and she has said in advance that she won't have them. Sensible woman.

No Censure for Chauncey.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew and Mrs. Depew are at home. Although there was the bad news of the tunnel horror for the senator, there was also a warm welcome from his friends, and it was easy to see that he was glad to be at home. However much disposition there may be to blame the impersonal management of the New York Central railroad for the disaster of Wednesday morning, no one had a frown for Chauncey Depew as he stepped ashore last night. He is too popular on his own account for that.

Nat Goodwin Back.

Nat Goodwin and Mrs. Goodwin (Maxine Elliott) are here. They came on the St. Louis, and were fellow-passengers of Chauncey and Mrs. Depew. It was a pleasant traveling party. The senator and Nat Goodwin have been good friends for a long time, and it is said that they exchanged a bushel or two of capital stories in the smoking room in the course of the voyage. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin will be at the New York debut of Mrs. Patrick Campbell at the Theater Republic tomorrow.

Croker Dodges In Time.

The retirement of Richard Croker from the leadership of Tammany hall disproves the frequent assertion of his friends that he would never let go of his position in the face of defeat. He has been quoted as saying that when he did retire, if ever, it would be when Tammany was victorious. But perhaps Richard Croker—shrewd man that he is—doubts the return of Tammany to power even two years hence, and desires to get out of the hurly-burly in good time.

Bellew Will Entertain.

Kyrle Bellew, who throws nearly a dozen men downstairs every night in "A Gentleman of France" at Wallack's, will entertain 1,400 New York schoolboys next Friday afternoon. Bellew likes boys. He says it does him good to hear them cheering when he is on the stage, and that he would rather play to an audience of schoolboys than to any other class. The fight in "A Gentleman of France" is a great thing. Bellew yesterday told Charlie Hager—you remember Hager? He used to be Tom Keene's leading man—that he never had such a wholesome stage combat in his life as this rough-and-tumble on the staircase, in pinking his foes, one by one and kicking each one down the stairs to finish him off, as he prepared for his next assailant. "It is better than prospecting for gold in Australia, my boy," declared Bellew, "and that is not such a dull amusement, let me tell you."

Williams Has Many Friends.

Harry Williams' "Imperial Burlesquers" are billed to open at the Dewey theater here tomorrow night. Among frequenters of the vaudeville theaters in New York I find that Harry Williams is as well and favorably known as in his own Pittsburgh. All his shows do well in this city.

Westmoreland county is to add another industry to its long list. A big rubber company proposes to remove from Erie to land near Jeannette, and erect an immense plant that will give employment to 800 men.—Greensburg Tribune.

A wild goose came down on Fourth street to rest Monday, apparently thoroughly tired out. With little difficulty it was driven into Cyrus Ferguson's barn. It is below the medium size for a goose, and Dr. Cook pronounced it a northern wild goose. It is being kept and fed with the rest of the fowls and appears to thrive.—McDonald Record.

It is expected that by April 1st the lines of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway Company will be in full operation over their entire 130 miles and that 25 fine traction cars will be running through on regular schedules from Fairchance and Masontown in Fayette county to Duquesne, Allegheny county.—Connellsville News.

Since the councils propose to have children locked up for violating the curfew law, they should provide a decent place in which to incarcerate the youthful offenders. Mayor Greenewald is certainly justified in the position he has taken in the matter. His signature has not yet been affixed to the ordinance.—Bradford Era.

The friends of Frederick E. Poister, editor of the Ellwood Citizen, who is a candidate for the legislature, hope that he will fare better than most journalistic party workers do. Newspaper men in politics do more to aid their parties than any but actual party managers, and receive less in return than the average ward worker.—New Castle Herald.

The women's clubs of Allegheny county have embarked upon an attempt to obtain the election of women to the school boards. In the west, where some advanced steps in civilization seem to be taken quicker than in the hide-bound east, women are doing noble work in educational directions, in which they are perhaps peculiarly well qualified to achieve success.—Meadville Gazette.

Several welcome announcements have come from the industrial world since the first of the year. Increases in wages have been the order, but no report has been more gratifying than that made by the American Steel and Wire Company, to the effect that it will establish a pension system among its 25,000 or 30,000 employes. The plan adopted provides for the pensioning of all old and faithful employes in accordance with their terms of service.—Pittston Gazette.

In one township of Pennsylvania the school teachers have struck for higher wages. The salaries now paid range from $30 to $35. In Clarion county there are, we think, seven districts where less than $30 a month is paid, and yet we have had no strikes. There is not a district in Clarion county which could not pay at least $35 a month for teachers. It seems as if the state should take a hand in determining the pay of teachers, as well as the length of the school term.—Clarion Republican.

"Graciously receive my kowtows and vouchsafe to say if you are glad to be home again, your imperial majesty."

"Yes; I am glad to be home once more. You know I went away for my health. I'm better now. Then I wanted some improvements made in the palace. The dining-room needed to be enlarged and a new bay window put in the back parlor. Beside that, I had hardwood floors laid in the library and my own bedroom, and the place papered from top to bottom. It was better to go away while those things were being done. Workmen do make such a muss, you know, and I can't endure the least disorder. Excuse me now, please! "Yes, she has. If they were glass eyes they would have been broken long ago."

POINT BREEZE.

Sunday in the City of Mexico.

From Modern Mexico.

Sunday is the great day of recreation and sport. Tennis, cricket, polo, baseball, football, golf, horseback and bicycle riding, all help to get the people out of doors every Sunday. Bull-fighting is, of course, the ideal amusement of the [illegible] and the [illegible] in the city as well as in the [illegible] for the [illegible].

ALL NEWS COMBINED.

Yesterday's Issue of the Sunday Gazette Printed Bright Stories from Every Corner of the World.

Yesterday's Sunday Gazette was probably the most interesting paper of the new year. It combined the latest local, cable and telegraph news with the very best "special" stories that abound in the newspaper and literary world. There was not one dull page in the paper.

It is saying little to state that the news world was "covered" adequately; for The Gazette always has news stories of an exclusive nature. To begin with the Sunday paper proper, the humorous section was an extremely funny fantasy which could not help but delight both old and young readers.

The page for children in the same section was replete with bright bits of fairy gossip and anecdotes of a nature suited to the child mind.

Clever Serial Story.

On the opposite page the serial novel "The Mystery of Grantley," by Ashley Towne, is being published. This is one of those weird, yet delightful, stories which one follows with keen interest. It is told in a style that is peculiar to Mr. Towne and has won him a host of readers in the newspaper world.

The magazine section, with its beautiful half-tones illustrating the various articles, was an artistic piece of work. This section of The Gazette should never be overlooked. In it are found the cream of The Gazette's offerings to its readers. Instance the descriptive half-tones of the village of Cumnor made famous by Sir Walter Scott in his tragic novel, "Kenilworth." There are probably hundreds of The Gazette's readers to whom these reproductions bring back memories of the village outside of Oxford.

At all events, those who know not Scott and have read this descriptive article will be urged, probably, to interest themselves in that great novelist. Even this much is a commendation of The Gazette's wisdom in its selection of material for the Sunday paper.

Everyone who has a spark of pride for the historic surroundings of this great city must have found "The Abandonment of the Allegheny Arsenal" delightful and instructive reading. This article was written by The Gazette's military expert, Robert Wray. Military men and fathers and mothers who have sons in the service of the nation will find the military column of The Sunday Gazette of no small interest.

Col. McClure's Letter.

Col. McClure has always something to write about. This gifted editor has had an experience in the political, literary and social world that but few men enjoy. He is noted the world over as a man of keen, observant nature. "Random Recollections of Half a Century," written exclusively for The Sunday Gazette, tell of the famous Americans with whom he has associated.

There was the usual special correspondence from the capitals of Europe, the literary page, the woman's page and scores of columns of the latest gossip the world over.

The Gazette is sparing neither work nor money to give its readers the best Sunday paper published. There are equally as bright things coming, and The Gazette's special writers and correspondents will always be found where there is something new and interesting.

COLLEGE REMEMBERED.

Family of the Late Bernard Wolff, Jr., Will Equip a Department for Franklin and Marshall.

Franklin and Marshall college in Lancaster, Pa., has been remembered by the widow and children of a Pittsburgh business man, who during his life was a warm friend of the college, a Reformed church institution. The late Bernard Wolff, Jr., was a trustee of the college and was the first contributor to the fund with which the new science building, now in course of construction, is being erected.

Mr. Wolff died last spring. His widow, his son Paul and his daughter decided to equip the biological department in the new building, in memory of their father. The family lives at No. 5417 Fifth avenue. Word comes from Lancaster that the expense of equipping the biological department will be about $5,000, and that the Wolff family will bear the expense, whatever it may be. Paul Wolff succeeded his father as trustee of the college.

FIFTY WERE INITIATED.

Knights of Columbus Receive New Members at Zanesville.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—This was a red letter day for the Knights of Columbus in Southeastern Ohio. Fifty young men, mostly of this city, Wheeling, Canton, Steubenville, Coshocton, Lancaster and New Lexington, were initiated into the order.

After the initiation ceremonies a banquet was served in Memorial hall, with the Hon. J. T. McDermott as toastmaster. The principal speakers were the Rev. L. F. Kearney of Zanesville; P. A. Gaven of Steubenville; Joseph M. Blake of Canton; the Hon. T. B. Minahan of Columbus and P. J. Brady of Cleveland.

PERSONALS.

Benjamin Weis of Philadelphia, who was a cadet at Annapolis when Lewis Nixon, the new leader of Tammany Hall, in New York, was attending the academy, is at the Hotel Victoria. Mr. Weis left the navy shortly after he graduated. "Nixon had political ambitions even when he was a boy and studying for the navy, a career that offered no political preferment," said Mr. Weis. "He was born in the south about the time the civil war began, and was always interested in politics. He used to say that he would like to be a political leader in a northern city, to help to reconcile the sectional differences. That was 20 years ago, you must remember, and nobody could then predict that the reconciliation would be effected before Nixon would have a chance to get in his work."

"The people of Waynesburg have hopes that a branch of the Wabash railroad will come through their town," said James E. Sayers, a Waynesburg attorney, who was at the Hotel Henry last night. "Recently Congressman Dayton of West Virginia filed a petition with the war department for a bridge across the Monongahela river at Morgantown. We do not know positively who is to build the bridge, but we think it is the Wabash, and if that is the case we hope the line will run through Waynesburg."

H. C. Brooks, Louis Phillippi and Harry W. Claybaugh of Uniontown are at the Seventh Avenue hotel. They are on their way to Steubenville to lay out a block of 4,000 acres of coal lands recently purchased by the Bessemer Coke Company.

Lawrence G. Worstall of Athens, O., one of the law partners of Congressman Charles H. Grosvenor and M. E. Webster of Pomeroy, are at the Seventh Avenue hotel. They are here as opposing counsel to take depositions in a civil suit.

Joseph Wood, second vice president of the Pennsylvania company, went to Philadelphia last night in his private car.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

The following residents of nearby towns were registered at the leading hotels last night:

Duquesne—S. S. Hume, Titusville.

Seventh Avenue—W. J. Haney, Dayton, O.; C. H. Henderson and wife, Wheeling, W. Va.

Victoria—H. C. Dorr and wife, Camden, W. Va.

Anderson—G. W. Stratton, Altoona; W. L. Woodward, Wheeling, W. Va.

Monongahela—H. M. Bishop, Charleroi; J. H. McDermott, Morgantown, W. Va.; A. B. Ledwith, Brownsville.

Griswold—Charles Barret, New Martinsville, W. Va.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Albert E. Bassett.

Albert E. Bassett is dead at his home, No. 610 Sandusky street, Allegheny, in his 63d year. He was a member of Monument Lodge, I. O. O. F., and [illegible] R. D. Lodge and Star Circle, F. H. C. Mr. Bassett leaves a wife, Alice S. Jewell, and a daughter, Mrs. James C. Reed of Norwood avenue, Allegheny. He is survived by six brothers, David F. of Bellevue, James H. of Point Breeze, William H. of Verona, Elmer E. of Denver, Col., Thomas and Frederick of Allegheny, and three sisters, Mrs. James Patterson of Carnegie, Mrs. Marion Morrow of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Emma Cunningham of Kansas City.

John F. Pidcock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—John F. Pidcock, president of the Georgia Northern railway, died at the family homestead, Whitehouse, N. J., today. He came north several months ago to submit to an operation and was married just before the operation was performed. Mr. Pidcock was the son of the late Congressman James Nelson Pidcock of New Jersey.

John Bowen.

ALLENTOWN, PA., Jan. 12.—John Bowen, one of Allentown's wealthiest merchants, vice president of the Lehigh Valley Trust and Safe Deposit Company, died today, aged 62 years. He went to California in 1849, where he was a business associate and intimate friend of Sharon, Mackey, Flood, O'Brien and other Bonanza kings, returning in 1866. During the civil war he served in Capt. Fremont's cavalry company of scouts.

The Rev. Dr. Edwin Harwood.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Jan. 12.—The Rev. Dr. Edwin Harwood, pastor emeritus of Trinity church, and one of the best known Episcopal clergymen in the country, died at his home here tonight. Dr. Harwood was born in Philadelphia 80 years ago. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1839, and later from the General Theological seminary in New York.

Mrs. Frances Lynn died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James A. Lawson, Forest avenue, Bellevue. Mrs. Lynn was 78 years old.

PLANT CHANGES HANDS.

Steel Corporation Said to Have Bought Fox Pressed Steel Car Works.

JOLIET, ILL., Jan. 12.—It is unofficially reported here that the United States Steel Corporation has purchased the Fox Pressed Steel Company's works and the plant will resume this week under new management.

Officials here cannot confirm the rumor. The Fox plant has been idle since last summer owing to labor troubles. The mill has the latest improved machinery, employs several hundred men and makes steel cars and trucks.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 12.—A fire in a wooden house here resulted in the death of 12 persons and the severe burning of 20 more.

Admiral Entertained at Lima.

LIMA, PERU, Jan. 12.—The United States chargé d'affaires, Richard R. Neill, entertained at breakfast yesterday Rear Admiral Casey and Capt. Reiter, of the battleship Wisconsin.

An Era of Good Feeling.

From the New York Tribune.

The relations between employer and employed are becoming steadily more agreeable and satisfactory. The great Pennsylvania railroad has decided to raise the wages of tens of thousands of its men, and many other prominent corporations are displaying a similar liberality toward those who work for them. This is an era of generosity as well as of prosperity in this republic.

EYE-OPENERS.

In England an officer was court-martialed for being drunk. His servant, who was an Irishman, was asked by the court whether his master was sober on the night when he was stated to have been drunk.

"Yes, sir," the servant replied, "he was quite sober."

"How do you know he was sober?"

"Because he asked me to call him early."

This was a convincing answer. But one of the officers of the court-martial, remembering that there was no early parade on the following morning, asked the servant what reason his master gave for wishing to be called early. Without a moment's hesitation the servant replied:

"He said he was the Queen of the May, sir."

That, of course, concluded the case.—The [illegible] Friend.

He (anxiously)—Who is that tramping around overhead?

She—That's papa. He always gets restless towards morning.—Town and Country.

"Your little boy has such a manly way about him."

"Yes, I noticed when I was there the other day that he found fault with what they had to eat."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Miss Uptop—Did you tell him that I was not at home?

New Servant—Yes, mum; but he didn't seem to believe me, 'm. As I'm a stranger, [illegible] you'd better go down and tell him yourself, mum.—New York Weekly.

The Kind He Loves—"Of course, we have the Gibson girl and the Christy girl and the [illegible] girl, and the [illegible] girl, and it's rather confusing. But, as a matter of fact, which do you prefer?"

"Well," was the guarded reply, "to be real frank with you I think I like the real girl a little better than any of them."—Chicago Post.

FULTON IS OUT FOR SCALP OF SENATOR FLINN

He Will Institute Proceedings in the Courts This Week.

O. P. FORCE IS FOUND

Will Be a Witness in the Case—In Desperate Effort to Avert Defeat, Machine Is Trying to Corrupt Democrats in Many Wards.

Ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton says that he will institute proceedings in the courts this week which will make Senator William Flinn explain the Force affidavit. A. P. Force has been found and will be a witness in the case.

In the "protracted" vice discussion of a few weeks ago Senator Flinn gave an affidavit to his attorney, Senator John Weller, in which it was claimed that Mr. Fulton, while mayor, had received $9,000 for protecting vice. According to affidavit made by A. P. Force the money was paid through Private Secretary Stewart.

Mr. Fulton has been refused copies of the affidavit and Senator Flinn has declined to discuss the matter. Mr. Fulton has been digging, however. He says that he has unearthed Force, who says that years ago he made the affidavit, but does not know for what purpose it was gotten from him. It is said that he will testify that at that time he did not know Mayor Fulton or Private Secretary Stewart, who, by the way, is said to have never existed. Mr. Fulton thinks that the court is the proper place to bring out the facts.

Saloon Keepers Must Work.

Saloon keepers must work for the machine. Orders have gone out to them. Friendliness to candidates of the Citizens party is to be considered as treason. The penalty will be the probable loss of license. It is an easy matter for the police to lodge complaints.

The popular belief that every holder of a liquor license is an adherent of the machine is not correct. There are many saloon keepers in the city who believe that the city would be better if the Sixth avenue headquarters were wiped off the political map.

When this contest was started against the machine many of the liquor dealers turned in for the Citizens party. Their influence amounted to much in some wards.

From time to time machine lieutenants reported that saloon keepers in their districts were "wrong," which in political parlance means that they were against the machine.

Warning Has Been Given.

Recently someone has started to pull the strings. District workers are telling the liquor dealers that they had better advocate the election of Controller J. E. Lewis and the ring candidates for councilmen in their wards. The advice is also given that if the orders are disobeyed there will be trouble along about license court time. The police keep the "book of fate" on the license applicants and it is easy for the average policeman to remember of violations of the Brooks law, either real or imaginary.

The Democratic organization is paying special attention to the intimidation of saloon keepers. Effort is being made to secure a list of the liquor men who have been told to "go along." When license court convenes this information will be laid before the judges. The holder of a license, by experience, has learned to know the power of the machine.

Amused at Flinn's Speech.

Senator William Flinn caused machine men much quiet amusement yesterday when they read his Nineteenth ward speech. He said: "I never asked a man in Pittsburgh to exert an iota of influence in any ward in the city of Pittsburgh to control any Democratic meeting." Robert Sheehan of the Tenth ward, an alleged Democrat, said that Senator Flinn had slated him for re-election as a member of common council. F. M. King and Select Councilman King are credited with having conferred with William Flinn and Recorder J. O. Brown about the nomination of a candidate for council in the Thirtieth ward against Joseph Walls. Representative John J. Sweeney, another who poses as a Democrat, finds the throne room latch string out. John Elmore, the Democratic agent of the machine in the Thirteenth, is another with whom Senator Flinn is acquainted. It would be possible to go on down through the list of trading Democrats. It may be possible that Senator Flinn does not see all of the dealing Democrats personally, but it would be hard to make sensible people believe that he does not outline and O. K. all the deals made with them.

Democrats at Headquarters.

There is hardly a day that Democrats are not seen at machine headquarters and often they are summoned to the throne room. At the recent Democratic suggestion meetings men from all over the two cities were in attendance in wards in which they did not reside. They were always shouting for the machine men. The number of hired enthusiasts has been placed at 800. It was suspected the afternoon of the suggestion meetings that agents were drumming up "audiences." A straight Democrat went down through the lower wards to see if he could secure five men. The "rounders" were all "engaged." A trip to Allegheny proved that all the general utility men were in service for the evening.

It would be hard for machine leaders to prove that they have not made a deal with Representative John Sweeney and other Fourth ward Democrats to turn that ward over to Lewis, and elect machine councilmen. The withdrawal of Anderson and Manion means some sort of deal.

Manion Given Advice.

Friends of Manion say that Police Magistrate McKenna told him Saturday afternoon that it would be better for him to withdraw, for if he was nominated he would be defeated at the February election. The withdrawal of young Anderson was secured by allowing him to name James Conlon for select. This suggestion is not satisfactory to McKenna, as Conlon is a relative of the Brophys, and T. M. Brophy would like to have McKenna's job. The magistrate is said to be angry with Alderman Anderson for allowing his son to continue in the fight. There are reports that Sweeney and McKenna are to attempt to put the 'squire out of politics. The indications are that the final selection of a select councilman candidate by McKenna and Sweeney will be a general surprise.

Trying to Pull Off Candidates.

The machine is endeavoring to pull off Democratic candidates for councils in wards where the Democrats are affiliated with the Citizens' party. Attempts have been made to deal on the South Side.

In the Seventh district of the Thirty-second ward there are 300 negroes who are working on the roadbed of the Wabash. Some of the opponents of Kirk Q. Bigham say that his friends will try to vote many of these men. The Soffel faction say that the negroes are not registered, and that the great majority of them are non-residents of the state. Any attempt to vote them will be fought. There are also a number of Wabash negroes living in the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-fourth wards.

Died from Convulsions—The infant child of Henry Kriling of No. 223 Washington avenue, died early yesterday morning of convulsions. The child was 1 year old and had been ill during the night. Deputy Coroner Thomas J. Chalfant investigated the case.

Slipped on the Sidewalk—Mrs. F. P. Steedle of Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, while on her way to church last evening slipped on the pavement and broke her ankle. She was picked up and carried into her residence. She suffered considerably from the shock.

Nearly Frozen to Death—Thomas Phillips, a well-known resident of Robinson township, was picked up in West park last evening unconscious and nearly frozen to death. He was carried to the Commonwealth hotel, where restoratives were given him and he recovered consciousness. His condition is serious.

Died Suddenly—William Michaels of No. 11 Fifteenth avenue, Homestead, died suddenly yesterday morning at his home. He returned from his work in the city Saturday night, complaining of a pain in the region of the heart. It did not trouble him for several hours and then came again, and before medical aid reached him he was dead.

Police Court Hearings—Police courts in Pittsburgh and Allegheny were comparatively light yesterday. There were 75 cases distributed in the two cities, mostly all drunks and disorderlies. Magistrate James V. McMasters in the Penn avenue police court heard more than half the total number, 41 prisoners appearing before him.

Leaving for the West—Attorney E. P. Douglas, J. P. Smith and James L. Devenny of McKeesport will leave this morning for the Pacific coast. They go to inspect the plant of the new Pacific Steel Company, the only steel manufacturing plant in the state of Washington, which is owned by McKeesport capitalists. It is located at Irondale and has been in operation 10 days.

Two Firemen Hurt—The house of Thomas Schultz, near Turtle Creek, was burned yesterday afternoon. The loss will exceed $1,500. During the progress of the fire George Boon and Harry Hahn, firemen, were injured by falling tile. Hahn is said to be in a serious condition. As usual, the two fire departments of the borough turned out and had their customary row.

Runaway Captured—Cyrus Walker, aged 8 years, of Marion, Ind., was picked up at the Union station Saturday night by Special Officer Charles Bender and taken to Central police station. The boy ran away from home three weeks ago, and went to his uncle's in Appolo, and ran away from there, he says, because his uncle abused him. His parents have been notified and they will send here for him.

Died from Exposure—Jos. Feeney, 49 years old, of No. 8 Third avenue, died at the Mercy hospital yesterday at noon of a general collapse, due to exposure from falling into the Monongahela river at lock No. 1, early in the morning. He was employed on the steamer Elenore and was on the lock preparing to make a landing. He slipped and fell overboard and was pulled out by the members of the crew. He died shortly after his arrival at the hospital.

Irving-Terry Engagement—The sale of seats for the engagement of Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry at the Alvin next week will be begun on Thursday morning. After five weeks of "Ben Hur," and a week of farcical comedy theatergoers will, no doubt, be eager to welcome a week of legitimate plays presented by these famous actors. The extremely varied program which offers five entirely distinct bills should be sufficient to crowd the house at every performance.

Team Ran Away—An exciting runaway occurred in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, last night. A team of horses owned by Samuel Firestone and driven by Thomas Joyce frightened and started on a gallop. When nearing a crossing Joyce swerved the animals up on the sidewalk. They plunged through the big plate glass window of Thomas Baxter's grocery store and were brought to a stop. The damage will be several hundred dollars, as a large amount of stock was damaged in the windows.

Services at the Jail—Sunday services were held in the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. J. L. Milligan, chaplain of the Western penitentiary. He was assisted by Prof. Robert Martin, musical instructor of the Allegheny public schools and his daughter. Both rendered several vocal and organ renditions. Prof. W. A. Davis of the Central Presbyterian church of Allegheny rendered a vocal solo, "Beyond Gates of Paradise." Mr. J. Matthews, Mr. J. Matthews, Jr., and Miss Matthews rendered several vocal selections. This is the twenty-fifth year the Rev. Mr. Milligan has conducted services at the jail during the month of January.

Vice Under Discussion—The federation of churches of Allegheny and Pittsburgh will hold their quarterly meeting tomorrow night in Carnegie hall, Allegheny. The vice question will be thoroughly discussed by men and ministers who know how things are being conducted on the North Side. Ex-Mayor W. M. Kennedy of Allegheny will address the meeting on "Municipal Reform." His address will be an advice to the present officials of the city. Other addresses will be made by the Rev. E. L. Eaton, D. D., and the Rev. R. H. Miller of Cleveland. Reports will be read from the committees on a new constitution, decision day and the anti-cigaret movement.

Boy Prevents a Fire—Master Howard Fennar of Castle Shannon, while in the offices of the W. M. Laird Company, on Smithfield street, Saturday afternoon, discovered quite a blaze on the roof of the Marshall elevator works, adjoining the Grand opera house on Diamond street. The boy quietly informed Mr. Kent, buyer for the Laird Company, of his discovery, which looked quite dangerous. Mr. Kent was soon on the roof, and with the assistance of employes of Mr. Marshall, had the small blaze extinguished by the time the department was on the ground. Mr. Marshall later in the day looked up the boy and presented him with $2 for his quick action in the matter, which prevented a disastrous fire.

Meeting Was a Success—The meeting held in Duquesne hall in Penn avenue last night, under the direction of the Total Abstinence Union, was a great success. When Charles D. McShane, the chairman called it to order the hall was packed, many of the people coming from distant parts of the city. The address of the evening was made by the Rev. Father John G. Beane of St. Paul's Cathedral, who is president of the diocesan union. Other addresses were made by P. R. Conrad and James M. Dunn. Over 300 persons signed the pledge and the officers of the union were so elated over the success of the evening that they decided to have Sunday afternoon meetings in the hall.

Firemen Will Banquet—The North Braddock volunteer fire department held its annual election on Saturday night and chose officers for the coming year. The department will hold its first annual banquet on January 27 in the hall of the municipal building. Assistant Postmaster John F. Lowers was chosen chairman of the general committee, Justice of the Peace Joseph T. Campbell, secretary, and J. Grant Anderson, treasurer. The guest of honor at the banquet will be William Corey of Homestead, formerly of North Braddock, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, who week before last presented the department with $800 with which to buy a pair of horses.

PAY YOUR TAXES AND CAST YOUR VOTE.

All taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, January 18. That is the last day on which a tax receipt can be issued that will qualify a citizen to vote at the February city election. Voters will do well to give their immediate attention to this, for the law says no man can vote who has not paid a state or county tax within two years and at least thirty days before election day.

Black Hair

For 50 years Ayer's Hair Vigor has been restoring color to gray hair. It never fails to do this work, either. Besides this, it keeps the scalp clean and healthy, stops falling of the hair, and makes the hair grow thick and long. It's a regular hair-food.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps my scalp clean and healthy. It stopped the falling of my hair, also, and made it grow nicely. I receive many compliments for my beautiful head of hair."

WORK BEGUN ON ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT FOR LONDON'S UNDERGROUND RAILWAYS.

Locomotives Awaiting Service on Underground Railways.

Work has been started at the East Pittsburgh works of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company on the contract of the British company to convert the London underground railways into an electric system. The British company, which has the contract, involving approximately $15,000,000, will not be ready to operate its works at Manchester before spring, and meantime the work of fulfilling the contract is being started at East Pittsburgh.

Operated by steam power, the London underground system has gradually been losing its popularity for years. Not till the syndicate formed by Charles T. Yerkes of Philadelphia and Chicago, and now of London, secured control of the system did the project to equip the system for electric operation assume a degree of definiteness.

Then followed the placing of the gigantic contract with the British Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, limited.

For nearly a year the Yerkes syndicate had worked on the problem before it. Prior to its securing control there was a probability that the contract for the electrical equipment would be placed abroad, Holland interests having an inside. French and German interests were also active bidders.

The system, suggested by the Westinghouse interests in the dealings over the contract, was to be similar to that for the New York rapid transit system, and this had the support of Mr. Yerkes.

One of the provisions of this London contract is that it must be fulfilled without interfering with the operation of trains. All bidders, except the Westinghouse interests, were in no small measure handicapped by reason of this, the Westinghouse interests alone seeing no bugbear in this, through their successful fulfillment of most important contracts with similar provisions.

DAMAGES ARE TO BE ASKED FROM FEDERAL COURT

Foreign Families Will Demand Payment for Lives.

QUESTION IS IMPORTANT

If the United States Tribunal Approves Claims Many Other Suits Will Follow—Austrian Government Will Furnish Funds.

Backed by the wealth of the Austrian government the families of 11 of the men killed in blast furnace explosions last month will bring suit in the United States district court for damages. The Pennsylvania courts will not be appealed to.

The Pennsylvania supreme court has already decided, it is said, that aliens cannot recover civil damages, and as the families of the men killed live in Austria, it has been decided by the legal advisers of Alexander Nuber, the Austro-Hungarian vice consul, to appeal to the federal courts. It is probable that the suits will be entered next week.

Upon the result of these suits will depend a number of other possible prosecutions. During the past 12 months nearly 200 subjects of Austria and Hungary have been killed in accidents in manufacturing establishments in the district of which Vice Consul Nuber has charge.

Many Recent Fatalities.

Some of these fatalities happened in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, but the greatest number were in the Pittsburgh manufacturing district. Many have been investigated by Mr. Nuber and the circumstances have been found to be similar to those surrounding the 11 fatalities on which suit is to be brought.

Claiming non-responsibility under the employers' liability acts, and also basing their refusal on the already quoted decision of the Pennsylvania supreme court, the companies who employed the men killed will give nothing to their families, Mr. Nuber says. Therefore suits will be brought, should the result in the United States district court justify the hope of recovering damages.

Men Forbidden to Speak.

"It is difficult to obtain evidence in these cases," said Vice Consul Nuber yesterday. "The workmen are ordered not to talk. 'Hello, John,' the foreman will say after an accident in which a few men have been killed; 'you don't know anything about this, do you? No, of course you don't. And you'd better not, either.' If the man talks he is discharged and he finds it difficult to obtain work elsewhere. I have these facts not only from Austro-Hungarian subjects, but from English-speaking—American—workmen; not only from the poorly paid, 'ignorant,' laborer, but from the intelligent, skilled workman, earning from $5 to $8 a day.

"Of course, I realize, too, that the laws in this country make it difficult for a workman injured in accident while he is at work to recover damages. If he is hurt through the negligence of a fellow workman, he has no recourse.

Different Laws Abroad.

"I believe the law requires the employer to make diligent efforts to secure competent workmen, but how are you going to prove that he did not make proper efforts? The burden of proof is on the workman.

"Now, in Austria, Germany, France and Belgium it is different. There the burden of proof rests upon the employer. He must show that the accident was not through any fault of his, and the law holds him to such a strict accountability, criminally as well as civilly, that accidents are few. The workingman goes about his duties knowing that every precaution has been taken for his safety and for the support of his family in case of accident.

Officers Held Accountable.

"These laws were not secured without a wearisome struggle. There are wealthy and influential manufacturers and corporations in those countries, and the workingmen and their representatives in the legislative halls had to work hard to secure this protection."

In illustration of the laws covering accidents, Mr. Nuber mentioned a case which occurred in Austria recently. Four persons were killed in a train wreck near Vienna, and immediately, without any preliminaries, the general superintendent, the superintendent and other higher officers of the railroad line were sent to jail. They were responsible under the law for the safety of railroad travel on their line, and they were held to that responsibility until an investigation should show that the accident was not caused through their neglect.

COUNCILS WILL DELAY ACTION

LITTLE BUSINESS TO BE DONE UNTIL AFTER ELECTION.

Salary Ordinance Has Not Been Prepared and Councilmen Are Glad They Do Not Have to Act on It Immediately—Franchises May Be Passed Soon.

There will be little work done by councils until after the February elections. A regular meeting is scheduled for today but it is doubtful whether there will be a quorum in either branch. Many councilmen are engaged in a campaign for reelection and have little time to devote to municipal affairs.

The passage of the new charter ordinance and the apportionment ordinance at the last meeting practically disposed of all the important business on hand. The city administration has announced that the tax levy or the annual appropriation ordinance will not be passed until after the February elections.

It was also stated yesterday by organization leaders in councils that the salary ordinance which is to follow the charter ordinance will also be held back until after election. Heavy increases in salaries are contemplated.

Ordinance Not Prepared.

City Solicitor Clarence Burleigh has done no work on the salary ordinance. He announced a week ago that he would tender his resignation within two weeks and the preparation of the salary ordinance will devolve upon Mr. Burleigh's successor. It promises to be a burdensome task, both for the city solicitor and councils, as almost every employe in the city service is ready to present a petition asking for more pay.

John S. Lambie, president of select council, said yesterday in relation to the salary ordinance:

"It is fearful to contemplate. It is a nightmare for councils and there is not a councilman who is not anxious to put it off as long as possible. Almost every city employe will be asking for an increase. He will point to the general prosperity prevailing in the country and will insist that he should have a share of it.

Councilmen Annoyed.

"He will claim he is underpaid and that other employes engaged in similar work are getting more money than he is. Many of these applicants are unworthy and yet they are the most persistent. They give councilmen no rest. They follow members to their homes, their places of business and stop them on the street. They think that their demands should be attended to whether right or wrong.

"Last year we had a committee which attempted to regulate salaries in some branches of the city service and it was a very hard matter to get councilmen to serve on it."

The Philadelphia Company's traction ordinances, presented at the last regular meeting, constitute the most important business pending before councils.

Will Grant Franchises.

The ordinances grant to the constituent street railway companies of the Philadelphia Company the right to lay tracks on practically all the unoccupied down town streets of Pittsburgh and a portion of the South Side.

The companies offer the city no recompense for these valuable franchises. A number of machine councilmen have already declared their intention of supporting the measures, although they opposed the elevated road ordinances which offered the city a percentage of the company's profits.

Efforts are to be made to pass the Philadelphia Company ordinances before the February elections.

The ordinances were referred to the corporations committee. President Lambie said yesterday that this committee had held no meeting yet but would probably do so in a few days.

KUBELIK HAS ARRIVED.

Young Violinist Reached Pittsburgh Last Night.

Jan Kubelik, the young Bohemian violinist who has created a lively stir in the east and in Europe by his musical feats, arrived last night on the Pennsylvania limited from New York and will play tonight in Carnegie Music hall. Kubelik is but 21 years of age and is attracting as much attention as did Paderewski on his first tour of the United States. Kubelik has an attractive personality.

In his party are Hugo Gorlitz, his manager, R. Friml, J. Schrivan, Miss M. Victoria Torvilhon, pianist, Dr. Baumfeld, his physician and F. E. Jones. They are quartered at the Hotel Schenley.

EAST LIBERTY CHURCH HEARS NEW MINISTER

The Rev. Frank W. Sneed Preaches to Congregation That Called Him.

TOLD OF TWO CONFESSIONS

Words of the Apostles in Regard to Whom They Thought Their Master to Be Are Explained and Their Significance Is Dwelt Upon.

The Rev. Frank W. Sneed, who, in all probability, will be the next pastor of the East Liberty Presbyterian church, preached his first sermon in that edifice yesterday morning. His sermon yesterday made a good impression on his new congregation.

The Rev. Frank W. Sneed.

It was current opinion that Mr. Sneed would announce his acceptance of the call, but he did not, for the reason that he wishes to notify his own congregation of the step he is about to take. This he will do next Sunday.

Mr. Sneed's sermon was built on the text from Matthew 16; 13-17, relating the confessions of the Apostles as to whom they thought their Master to be, hence the title, "The Two Confessions." He said in part:

Beginning of the End.

It is generally understood by Bible students that this text marks a distinct period in the work and ministry of our Lord. For this reason, if for no other, it would be a matter of interest for us. It is really the beginning of the end. It was at this point his day began to dim into a twilight which thickened into darkness. It is stated in Luke 16:16 that the law and prophets were until John. Since that time the kingdom of God is preached. If we notice the preaching of John the Baptist we cannot but be struck with this fact. The whole burden of His message was the kingdom. Jesus took up the same theme in the beginning of His ministry. Somehow it is being noised abroad that He Himself is the king. The rabbis press Him hard with questions, which He adroitly evades.

True to those who were true to Him, He takes his disciples aside, to unfold to them His plan for establishing His church, and the spot selected for this conference seems eminently appropriate—a quiet retreat somewhere near Caesrea Philippi.

The First Confession.

The first confession was given in reply to Christ's first question: "Whom do men say that I, the Son of man, am?" The disciples of course, answered this question according to their best knowledge.

Some say "Thou art John the Baptist." These may be called the Herodians. John the Baptist, you remember, had been beheaded by Herod, and from that hour Herod seems to have felt that he was haunted by the ghost of his innocent victim. A strange superstition was ever in his mind that John was not dead, or if he was, he would certainly appear again. In John 14, 1, it is said that when Herod heard of the fame of Jesus he said unto his servants (probably those who had executed his cruel command) this is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead. Therefore, those who took Jesus to be John the Baptist, we term Herodians.

There were others, however, who took the ground that he was Elias. Elias, you remember, never tasted death, but was carried up in a chariot of fire; and it was generally believed among the Jews that he would come back to prepare the way for the Messiah.

All Opinions Complimentary.

Now in whatever respect these opinions may differ, in one point at least, they agree. They were all intended to be complimentary, and therefore they represent only those who had seriously considered Christ. It was Kant who characterized him as the "symbol of ideal perfection." Jean Paul Richter calls Him the "holiest among the mighty, and the mightiest among the holy." Froude says "the most perfect man that ever trod the soil of this earth was the Man of Sorrows." But Jesus Christ was more than a good man.

Approves Peter's Words.

Let us turn now to the second confession, where this truth is so strikingly brought out. This was prompted by Christ's second question, "But whom say ye that I am?" Peter, who is sometimes called "the mouth of the apostles" replies for them all, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Upon this, the Master instantly places his seal of approval in these words: "Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona, for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father, which is in heaven; and I say unto thee that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Therefore, we call this the first confession of faith of the Christian church. The germinal idea around which its thought and life is to grow.

POPE LEO'S ACTION MEETS CRITICISM

THE REV. DR. M'CLENAHAN SAYS BIBLE SHOULD BE LEFT ALONE.

He Criticises Head of Catholic Church for Appointing Commission to Delve Into Questions of Authorship and Meaning of Certain Books.

The twentieth century has, from all appearances, the earmarks of a great century of religious study and criticism. Already a commission is engaged in the arduous work of revising the Westminster confession, and now every denomination of the English-speaking countries is engaged in a deep, critical, study of the Bible. The latest acquisition to this new theme is the Catholic church. Pope Leo has announced a commission of 15, at the head of which is Cardinal Parrochi, to consider biblical questions that are said to be harassing some of the theologians. This commission is to settle ultimately all questions relating to the authorship of the books of the Old Testament, the correct meaning of disputed texts and all of that ilk.

Causes Much Protest.

An editorial in a New York paper after reviewing the keen interest manifested in the scriptures at this late day, says: "It is not the pope, then, but the great churches of Protestantism which need to appoint a commission, or commissions, for the consideration of all questions connected with biblical studies. The time is coming, if, indeed, it has not come, when these churches must take their stand definitely and decidedly on the question whether the Bible is of God or only of man. As it is now the pope is the sole, bold, positive and uncompromising champion of the Bible as the word of God."

The Rev. Dr. D. A. McClenahan of the Western Theological seminary has this to say of the severe rebuke:

Calls It Nonsense.

"It is nonsense for any paper to assert that Protestantism, as a whole or individually, ignores the proposition that the Bible is the inspired word of God. Of course there has been no positive assertion regarding mooted points, but, nevertheless, I believe that every student of the Bible accepts it as the word of God.

"It is not now so much the question of inspiration that is involved, but of interpretation, so that this editorial was uncalled for and certainly should not be heeded. The editor evidently did not see the point at issue. Now, as to the appointing of the commission, I am of the opinion that the pope has not been wisely guided in doing so.

Both Should Be Left Alone.

"The Bible should be left alone. The truth comes gradually to everything human and by and by these intricate questions will be as plain to us as others of equal importance.

"It is not a good thing for any denomination to appoint persons to haul and tear away at the Bible as if it were a twentieth century novel. It has but one effect; the learned grow lax in their love for the holy book and the ignorant are confused with no possible way of enlightening them. I maintain that the character of the criticism now abroad has a tendency to lower the Bible rather than elevate it."

Bishop Did Not Give Opinion.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Whitehead had this to say: "It is a book that differs from all others and as such will always be one of deep, critical study. I do not sufficiently understand the pope's aim in appointing a commission, and, therefore, do not care to give an expression. I shall discuss the Bible relations thoroughly at the pastors' meeting this morning. I like to see this renewed interest. It means a great deal."

It is not unlikely that this latest move and the caustic editorial will be discussed at the pastors' meeting today in the Association rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Bishop Whitehead is to read a paper on "Marginal Readings from the Bible, as Adopted by the Episcopal Convention," and the Rev. M. B. Riddle, D. D., will read a paper on "The Revisions of the English and American Committees."

HAVE YOU TRIED IT?

If You Haven't, You Will Be Surprised at the Trouble It Saves.

"If I had known how much time and trouble having an account current and paying all my bills by check would save me, I would have opened an account long ago," said a school teacher the other day, when she came to the offices of the Mercantile Trust Company, 413-415 Wood street, to deposit her salary. Not only school teachers, but everybody who handles money should have a checking account in the Mercantile, where your daily balance earns 2 per cent—4 per cent interest on savings accounts. 113uwyl

PAY YOUR TAXES AND CAST YOUR VOTE.

All taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, January 18. That is the last day on which a tax receipt can be issued that will qualify a citizen to vote at the February city election. Voters will do well to give their immediate attention to this, for the law says no man can vote who has not paid a state or county tax within two years and at least thirty days before election day.

ONE THOUSAND MEN WILL BEGIN TO HARVEST ICE

Consolidated Ice Company Wants One Hundred Thousand Tons.

THE WORK STARTS TODAY

Small Lakes in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York Yield Annually an Immense Tonnage to the Pittsburgh Company.

The annual ice harvest of the Consolidated Ice Company starts today. More than 1,000 men will be employed. For two weeks this work will continue, and at its conclusion over 100,000 tons of natural ice will have been placed in the storage buildings of the company at lakes in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, where the company has ice product rights.

At the different lakes the ice is from 10 to 13 inches thick. Until yesterday it was expected that the harvest could be conducted without the troublesome and costly work of removing a stratum of snow. On Saturday General Manager Thomas A. Dunn issued orders from headquarters in Pittsburgh to start the ice harvest, in anticipation that the usual snow would not have to be dealt with. However the snowfall yesterday is supposed to have reached all the harvesting points.

Harvest to Be Heavy.

At Stoneboro, Pa., it is expected to store about 28,000 tons; at Lakeville, O., 22,000 tons; Mayville, N. Y., 35,000 tons, and Ligonier, Pa., 20,000 tons. This will give the company a stock of natural ice amounting to about 135,000 tons.

Of this quantity a little less than 30,000 tons is now stored at Mayville. This was not required during last summer, and was held over, according to the custom of the company, in anticipation of a famine this year.

All this natural ice goes to supply a trade chiefly outside of Pittsburgh and vicinity. Most of it is placed in the towns and smaller cities near the supply. It is also largely consumed by the railroads running near the storage houses.

Little for Pittsburgh.

Less than 10 per cent of the ice used in Pittsburgh and Allegheny is natural, and this quantity is only brought here to meet the heavy demand of the extreme hot weather.

Plans have been completed by F. J. Osterling for the large new plant of the ice company on the South Side and the contracts will probably be let within a week. The contracts will specify the erection of the plant ready for operation within 100 days from the time that the ground is broken.

The company expects to have it in operation by May 15, to supply a trade reached on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, the tracks of which will communicate with the plant. South Side and Hazelwood trade will also be supplied from the new factory.

Merger Rumor Denied.

The erection and installation of this plant is estimated to cost $150,000 including the site, which cost $22,000. The building will be of heavy construction, having brick and stone walls 18 inches thick. It will extend 173 feet in South Twenty-first street and 100 feet in Merriman alley.

On the first floor of the building will be the ice machines, on the second facilities for 60 horses. The third floor will be chiefly occupied by wagons.

There has been a persistent rumor for several days that the Philadelphia Company, through its affiliated interests, is to take over the Consolidated Ice Company, which carries a stock issue of $2,000,000 in 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and $2,000,000 in common stock, and no bonds. This report is without foundation. Ex-Judge James H. Reed, president of the Philadelphia Company, yesterday denied the rumor absolutely.

BRISK SNOWSTORM HERE.

Pittsburgh Was One of Few Cities Where the Beautiful Fell Yesterday.

Pittsburgh was one of the few cities of the United States in which snow fell yesterday. Except in a small group of the cities and in one isolated town in the north, the weather was clear and sunshiny. The northern town was Marquette, Mich., and the group consisted of Cleveland, Columbus, Pittsburgh and a few other cities lying in a southwesterly direction from Cleveland. The precipitation in Pittsburgh was .13 of an inch in rain, which means a little more than one inch of snow.

The map at the weather bureau office indicated that there would be light snow flurries this morning and fair weather in the afternoon. The lowest temperature up to 5 p. m. was 19 degrees. At 8 p. m. the mercury had dropped only a small fraction of a degree, indicating that the temperature would not fall far below the minimum. The highest temperature was 25 degrees at noon.

The streets nearly all over the city were very slippery yesterday and many people got bad falls. Practically no damage was reported from the snowfall, but many people were inconvenienced by it. The wind was brisk all day and blew the snow into the faces of pedestrians with stinging force.

HAD ROUGH VOYAGE.

Steamship Etruria Badly Battered in Voyage Across the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The steamship Etruria of the Cunard line came to her dock today showing many signs of the rough voyage she had coming across.

Most of the forward rail on her promenade deck was gone, having been washed away by an immense wave which struck the ship at 3 o'clock Thursday morning.

Nervous Prostration

Given up by the Doctors. She was kept alive from day to day by injecting food into her body. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer restored her to perfect health.

Such cures as the one recorded below has the semblance of a miracle, but there is nothing marvelous about them. The simple facts are that Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer will cure any case of Nervous Prostration, no matter how far advanced it may be.

MRS. MARY LINSEA

Charlotte, Mich.

CURED OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION —BY— WHEELER'S NERVE VITALIZER.

"I was stricken with nervous prostration and severe irritation of the spinal nerves so bad that I was confined to my bed—could neither eat nor sleep. It was necessary to inject liquid food into my body to keep me alive. The many physicians who treated me were unable to help and finally gave me up to die. While in that condition I was advised to try Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer. I could feel the good effects of the third dose, and the first bottle helped me so much that my friends could hardly believe so much benefit could be derived from so little treatment. After using three bottles I was entirely cured and I was my healthy self again. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer certainly saved my life and I can recommend it to anyone afflicted with any nervous trouble. Mrs. Mary Linsea, Charlotte, Mich."

There is no form of nervous diseases from Sleeplessness to Epileptic Fits that will not yield to Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer. Proof will be sent to anyone making the request.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE—Application will be made to the governor of Pennsylvania on the 4th day of February, 1902, by Joseph C. Forse, Charles S. Wise, George W. Jones, Jr., Wm. F. McDowell and Wm. F. Wise, under the act of assembly entitled: "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29, 1874, and the supplements thereto, for the charter of an intended corporation, to be called Union Ice Company, the character and object of which is the manufacture and sale of ice and distilled water at Pittsburgh, Pa., and for these purposes to have and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of said act of assembly and the supplements thereto. H. H. Carmack, Solicitor for Applicants. [illegible]

NOTICE is hereby given that letters of administration on the estate of John Graff, deceased, late of Allegheny county, have been granted to the undersigned, to whom all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims or demands against the same will make them known without delay. John C. Graff, Administrator, [illegible] Beatty st., Pittsburgh, Pa. [illegible]

LEGAL NOTICES.

THOMAS LOWRY, Attorney-at-Law, 4[illegible] Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. In the court of common pleas No. 3 of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, No. 120 February term, 1902. In re application of Catharine Pifer, widow of Frank Pifer, deceased; Harry B. Pifer, Margaret Lingle, nee Pifer; Mary Dody, nee Pifer; Frank Pifer, John F. Pifer, Adam Pifer, Lizzie Pifer and Annie Pifer, for satisfaction of mortgage.

To Mary Reed, or whoever may be the holder or holders of the following mentioned mortgage: You are hereby notified that on December 21, 1901, a petition was presented to said court by said petitioners, setting forth that they are the only heirs of said Frank Pifer, deceased, who died on May 18, 1901, intestate, leaving to survive him the aforesaid widow and children, his only heirs, and seized in fee of the hereinafter described premises, which by reason of said intestacy became vested in and now is the estate in fee of these petitioners, subject to the rights of the Pennsylvania Mining Company, owner by deed of conveyance from them, petitioners, of the river vein of coal lying thereunder. That on the 10th day of April, 1861, William Wright of Baldwin township, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, executed a mortgage unto Mary Reed of the borough of Elizabeth, said county and state, to secure the payment of five several bonds as follows: One for $150, payable on the first of April, 1862; a like sum on the first day of each April of the years 1863, 1864 and 1865, and one for $50, payable on April 1, 1866, with interest on each of said payments from the first day of April, 1861, upon

All that piece or lot of ground lying in Baldwin township, Allegheny county, state of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a post, thence by lands of Joseph Curry north sixty-four degrees east fifty and one-half perches to a post; thence by lands of Jacob Horning, north forty-eight degrees, west fifty-seven and one-fortieth perches to a stone; thence by lands of Lewis H. Norfolk, south forty-five degrees, west seventeen perches to a post; thence by lands of Hiram Sickman, south fifteen degrees, east fifteen perches; thence south twenty-one degrees, east thirty perches; thence south eight degrees, west nineteen and three-tenths perches to the place of beginning, containing nine acres and eighty-nine perches, strict measure. That said mortgage was recorded in the recorder's office of Allegheny county, August 1, 1861, in mortgage book, vol. 42, page 150. That petitioners know of no person interested in said mortgage except the mortgagee, whose place of residence, if she is still living, is unknown to petitioners, who are the present owners of said described premises. That more than twenty-one years have elapsed since the last payment of said mortgage debt became due and payable, and that legal presumption of the payment of said mortgage and the debt thereby secured exists from the lapse of time, and from the further fact that all of said bonds are in the possession of petitioners (together with the deed of mortgage), four of which bonds appear, by writing thereon, to be paid. Nevertheless, there appears to be no satisfaction of record of said mortgage, whereupon the court did make the following order: And now, to wit, December 21, 1901, the within petition, presented in open court and ordered to be filed, and thereupon and in consideration thereof William McKinley, sheriff of said Allegheny county, is directed to serve notice, stating the facts set forth in this petition on Mary Reed, the holder or holders of said mortgage, if to be found in the said Allegheny county, and in case the party aforesaid cannot be found in said county, that then the said sheriff shall give public notice, stating the facts set forth, in the Pittsburgh Gazette, a newspaper published within the said county, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the next term of this court, requiring the mortgagee or whoever may be the holder or holders of said mortgage, to appear at said term, to wit, February term, 1902, and answer the within petition, and show cause why an order should not be made decreeing and directing that satisfaction shall be entered on the record of the said mortgage by the recorder of deeds in and for the said county of Allegheny, on payment of the costs due relative to the entry of said mortgage or any proceedings thereon; which said satisfaction so entered shall forever thereafter discharge, defeat and release the same, and shall likewise bar all actions brought or to be brought thereon, as fully and effectually to all intents and purposes as if the satisfaction had been entered by the legal holder or holders of the said mortgage, agreeably to the act of assembly approved June 10, 1881, and the law in such case made and provided. William C. McKinley, Sheriff. 1223[illegible]

NOTICE is hereby given that, by virtue of an order of the circuit court of the United States for the Western district of Pennsylvania, in the case of the Pfaudler Vacuum Fermentation Company vs. the Braddock Brewing Company, at No. 6 November term, 1899, I will expose at public sale, at the front stairs of the Allegheny county court house, on January 16th, 1902, at 2 o'clock p. m., the following described property, subject to the lien of a judgment of Jacob Weil against the said Braddock Brewing Company for $13,000, and accrued interest: A lot of ground situate in the borough of Braddock, and more particularly bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the southerly side of the right of way of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad, thence south 45 degrees west 178 feet, more or less, to the Monongahela river; thence down said river north 45 degrees 15 minutes west 118 ft. 8¾ inches, more or less, to the center of a 40-foot street (not opened); thence along the center of said street north 45 degrees east 198 feet, more or less, to the right of way of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad; thence in a southerly direction along said right of way of said Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad 120 feet, more or less, to the place of beginning. Having erected thereon a two-story brick brewery building, together with the machinery, fixtures, appliances, stock and materials necessary to run and operate the same as a brewery.

Terms—Ten per cent will be required upon the acceptance of the bid, and the balance in cash upon the execution and delivery of the deed for the same. George S. Fleming, Receiver Braddock Brewing Co. 1223[illegible]

J. M. SWEARINGEN, Attorney-at-Law, 442 Diamond st., Pittsburgh, Pa. Court of common pleas No. 2, Allegheny county, ss.: State of Pennsylvania. Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to said court at No. [illegible] January term, 1902, on Saturday, February 1, 1902, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., by William Fetz, John Weddley, John Fitz, Charles Stifel, Alonzo J. Turkle and others, under the act of assembly, entitled, "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29, 1874, and the supplements thereto, for the charter of an intended corporation to be called "Pittsburgh Synod of the General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the United States of America," the character and object of which is the support of public worship according to the faith, doctrine, discipline and usages of the Evangelical Lutheran church, as defined by the "General Synod" and regulating the temporal affairs of the governing body of said denomination within the territory which embraces the counties of Ohio, Brook and Hancock in the state of West Virginia, known as the Panhandle, and also the counties in that portion of the state of Pennsylvania which lies west of a line drawn between the counties of Cambria and Westmoreland and running north and south from New York to Maryland, and for these purposes to have, possess and enjoy all the benefits and privileges of said act of assembly and supplements thereto. The above application is now on file in the prothonotary's office. J. M. Swearingen, Solicitor. 16[illegible]

T. D. CHANTLER and WM. M. McGILL, Attorneys-at-Law, Park building, Pittsburgh. Notice—Application will be made to the governor of Pennsylvania, on the 25th day of January, 1902, by Henry A. Lappe, C. Eugene Lappe, Robert L. James, N. L. Holmes and J. Harvey Scott, under the act of assembly entitled: "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29, 1874, and the supplements thereto, for the charter of an intended corporation to be called J. C. Lappe Tanning Company, the character and object of which is the manufacture of all kinds of leather, and all articles of commerce, composed wholly or partly of leather, at Allegheny City, Pa., and for these purposes to have and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of said act of assembly and the supplements thereto. Brush Gives Out Elaborate Statement

BRUSH CHARGES SPALDING WITH PLANNING TRUST

Baseball Corporation Was to Be on Same Lines as Bicycle Trust.

SECOND LETTER OFFERED

In a Communication Brush Relates to Frank De Haas Robison His Interview With Spalding—Copy of Opinion Is Also Produced.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Jan. 12.—John T. Brush today issued an elaborate and corroborative statement in which he discusses A. G. Spalding's proposed baseball trust, which was blocked by himself and Frank De Haas Robison. The documents in evidence are copies of letters and telegrams passing between Messrs. Hart, Spalding, Robison and himself, also conversations which are proven by letters.

After declaring Spalding to be the original promoter of what is known as the baseball trust, Mr. Brush leads up to a meeting with Mr. Spalding in Chicago, where he was made acquaintd with Spalding's plan to organize on the lines of the American bicycle trust. Mr. Brush says:

"The result of that conference can be made apparent by the introduction of the letter written to Mr. Robison on July 16, at the solicitation of Messrs. Spalding and Hart, with th view of securing Mr. Robison's consent to join Mr. Spalding in his efforts to formulate a baseball trust, also of the form of option that we were asked to sign, which was the same as that used by Mr. Spalding when he formed the bicycle trust. Th letter follows:

Brush Writes Robison.

Indianapolis, July 15, 1901.

Mr. Frank De Haas Robison, Cleveland.

Dear Frank: I went to Chicago last week, and met Hart and Spalding. Spalding exhibited considerable interest in the settlement of the war and expressed a willingness to take hold of the matter along the lines indicated by Hart at the Cleveland meeting, provided they and I would work with him. Unless we would, he could not be induced to take the matter up.

Before taking up the subject they wanted to know something about my plans for reorganization, and I gave them the briefest kind of an outline, wholly without detail, but said that it provided for a board of control, that the plan could not be established except in times of peace, and that it provided for licensing players, managers, clubs and leagues, all subject to the board of control; that for a violtion of law the license was suspended, held out or withdrawn.

Spalding's Ideas.

Spalding expressed himself as much pleased with that idea and gave his ideas of how far the board of control ought to go toward controlling the entire baseball situation of the country, and said that it required a strong man at the head of it.

I then said to Mr. Spalding that I wished to be entirely frank with him. If I were to be handed back my option on a baseball club on the first of December, and I found that every one else had been placed in some league and that I had not been, and there was no available territory left for me, with which to ally myself in the formation of a league, my baseball property would be ruined and no responsibility would attach to the individual who held the option; therefore, before he could get an option from me it would be necessary for me to have some assurance, some guarantee that, if I was not to be a part of the National league, I would get my price for the Cincinnati club.

An Eight-Club League.

I said: Supposing he got options on five clubs in the west and five in the east, and he wished to form an eight-club league from the ten clubs thus secured. He could use but four in each section, but he would have the power, holding the option, to squeeze the price to almost any figure that he saw fit, because if a club was to be left out of the circuit or have its option handed back, it would be obliged to accept almost anything that was offered. His reply was that if he were to do such a thing as that, he would fail to accomplish what he was attempting, for if he left the Cincinnati club out of the deal, it would remain outside as a standing menace to harmony in baseball.

I had to leave on the 1 o'clock train and our meeting was shortened. He left for California, I believe, the next day. He was anxious to have you, Hart and me get together and talk this over, and if we were interested, he would return at almost any time and take the matter in hand. He urged strict confidence and did not want any inkling of this to pass from either Hart, you or me. Hart wants to meet you and me in conference at the earliest possible moment. I told Jim I would write you and say this. Please say nothing back to me, and oblige. Sincerely yours,

J. T. BRUSH.

Mr. Brush then gives a copy of the option, which is similar in form to the American Bicycle Trust form or option.

LOCAL SWIMMERS GOING TO CHICAGO

To Attend Golfer's Funeral.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Amateur and professional golfers attended the funeral of "Willie" Davis, the professional attached to the Apawamis Golf club, this afternoon. The interment was only temporary, as the remains will be shipped to Montreal within a few weeks for final disposition. Davis was the pioneer professional golfer in the invasion of the United States.

NO DANGER OF AMERICAN TEAM IN PITTSBURGH

President Dreyfuss Has Said He Will Stick to the National League.

NOTHING IN CHEAP BALL

Rumor from Philadelphia That Pittsburgh Would Be Found in the New League Circuit Is Given No Credence by Local Fans.

One of the silliest baseball rumors that has been current in months was sent out from Philadelphia on Saturday night to the effect that Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh team, was about to secure an American league franchise for this city.

The report stated that the Pittsburgh magnate had become tired of the fighting in the big league, and had determined to leave the National for the younger organization. Just how the report started is not known, and there is evidently no authority for it.

There is absolutely no danger of Pittsburgh having an American league team in the field this season at least. No grounds could be secured, and Pittsburgh would never prove a profitable 25-cent baseball town.

To maintain a baseball team in Pittsburgh requires more money than the lovers of the game imagine. It is said that the Pirate management expended over $100,000 last year for a winning team. The same men practically have been resigned for this season, and several additions have been made to the team.

Pittsburgh would never prove a cheap baseball town, and to support a team here such as has represented the city in former years and have 25-cent ball would be entirely out of the question.

If President Dreyfuss had any idea of changing his present team into an American league club there would be something to say on the part of the players. It is not probable all would stick to their present contracts, and if they were to play ball in the new league would prefer to play with other clubs than with the Pirates.

The rumor of an American league team for Pittsburgh was first started during the baseball meeting in New York last December. When the scheme of John T. Brush, the Cincinnati magnate, to form a baseball trust was sprung the report came from New York that President Dreyfuss would join the American forces. The matter was put up to the Pittsburgh president and he denied it in the most strenuous terms.

CELEBRATED THE DAY.

Anniversary of the Rev. Mr. Young's Pastorate in Pittsburgh.

Thanksgiving to God and consecration to his work were the keynotes of the service at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday, on the fourth anniversary of the Rev. S. Edward Young's installation as pastor. One hundred and twenty-one new members were received publicly at yesterday's communion—106; on profession of faith, and 15 by letter, making in all 1,048 during the present pastorate. Mr. and Mrs. Young are busy with preparations for their trip to Africa, Egypt and Europe on the Celtic, sailing February 8. Pastor Young said:

"After the immediate Divine help the achievements in this church are due largely to that long line of faithful pastors and workers who wrought so exceeding well. Drs. Boggs, Hunt, Swift, Blythe, Dunlap, Howard, Stites, McKibbin, Sutherland and Talmage. Elders like Davis, Loomis, McLain, Brooks and Cooper, planted and cultivated here such a devotion to the gospel, such brotherly love and loyalty to the church that the present pastor has never had to overcome any friction, or ill feeling in the congregation."

PAY YOUR TAXES AND CAST YOUR VOTE.

All taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, January 18. That is the last day on which a tax receipt can be issued that will qualify a citizen to vote at the February city election. Voters will do well to give their immediate attention to this, for the law says no man can vote who has not paid a state or county tax within two years and at least thirty days before election day.

EASY TO FIND

MORE WATER THAN OIL

Information was received in this city yesterday from a practical oil man who visited the alleged big oil strike on Keyser Mound, near Columbia, Brazaria county, Texas. The telegram stated that the well was flowing gas, water and mud, and had a small showing of oil. This is the well reported by telegrams sent out from Austin as good for 30,000 barrels a day, and would make scores of millionaires, among others ex-Gov. Hogg's wealth was increased to eighty millions of dollars.

Lower Southwest Field.

Operations in the lower southwest fields met with little encouragement during the past week. The location of new pools is as much of a mystery as at any time during the past twelve months, and the extensions to the old fields are not such as to call for any great amount of new work. With the introduction of the new year there is nothing in any quarter to indicate the probable prevention of the steady decline in the production of high grade petroleum. The reports from Kentucky are a little more encouraging for the reason that one or two good producers have been found outside of the Sunny Brook pool in Wayne county. Looking at the developments as a whole, commencing with the early last year, a comparison of the number of producers and dry holes is not encouraging, as the latter outnumber the former. Forty-four wells in all had been completed up to January 1, and of this number but 16 were producers, and since then some of the wells in the Sunny Brook pool have joined the duster list and others are heading in that direction. The year promises to be an eventful one for the Blue Grass state in defining its status as a producer of petroleum. The most discouraging feature so far is the broken condition of the producing formation. If a stretch of territory can be found that will show that the producing sand is uniform it will give an impetus to operations and possibly make some strides towards staying the decline in production.

Several new wells were completed in the "Little Germany" district, in Marshall county, W. Va., during the week. The best and most important was the South Penn Oil Company's test on the Andrew Corbley farm, located 500 feet east of the Alley Lewis producer. The Corbley test is rated as a 75-barrel producer, which places it in the same class with the Alley-Lewis farm well. Of all the wells completed in this territory the last named is the only one that has not been shot. The Corbley, located as it is on the east side and slightly in advance of developments, makes it look as though the producing formation was increasing in width at that point. Looking at the "Little Germany" development from the most favorable viewpoint, it has not come up to the expectations of those who have been most active in developing the territory. The average production of the wells, including those in the Cameron district, do not exceed 15 or 20 barrels a day, and when the cost of drilling is taken into account, and the dusters added, it becomes a question of getting out even instead of figuring on profits.

Looking for New Attractions.

With interest in the Marshall county development waning operators are looking for new attractions. West of Mannington, near the Marion-Wetzel county line, the South Penn Company's test on the Jacob Cunningham farm is still holding up at better than 100 barrels a day, and the opinion is growing that a pool of Gordon sand oil will be developed in that locality before the year closes. A number of test wells have been started, but it will probably be a month before the first will reach completion.

Harrison county promises to furnish more new production during the first half of the year than any other in the lower southwest. Operations are active in the vicinity of Salem, and the producing area is being enlarged. There is room for much work in this section, and with fair returns. During the week the United States Oil Company completed a well on the J. W. Williams farm that started at the rate of 300 barrels a day. In this section oil in paying quantities is found in three formations, the 50-foot, stray and Gordon. The most regular is the Gordon sand.

The fifth sand development on Indian Fork, Gilmer county, seems to be fairly well defined. The test wells that have been drilled looking for an extension have all come in dusters. Three dry holes to the northeast brought negative results and during the week the South Penn Oil Company completed an important test well on the Connors farm, located northeast of the pool, and this, too, is a duster. Operators have not yet given up the search for new producing territory. Two wildcats, both dusters, were completed last week. Unless the efforts of the future are more fruitful on the Copley Gordon sand pool on Second Fork, the fifth sand pool at Bealls Mills and the Gantz sand pool on Fink creek will test Lewis county's record for new production. All three pools have been defined so that a new pool will be necessary if interest in this county is to be revived.

Braxton county has done nothing to give it any distinction as a producer of oil. Much territory is under lease, but dry holes have been the result of efforts to place it in the producing column. Roane county has fared no better, and operators are not inclined to make an extended search for new pools when the producing formation shows so much irregularity.

Southeastern Ohio.

Routine work is all that Southeastern Ohio can lay claim to at the present time. The four good producers in the Big Lima district, near Lewisville, Monroe county are the best on that side of the river. As yet there has been no outlet discovered. There is still considerable activity in the Graysville district, but it is confined almost exclusively to the interior. The shallow sand territory in Morgan county is not keeping up in new production or operations.

In the local fields the Burgettstown extension in Washington county is the most active. The Speechley sand district in Butler county furnished several good producers during the past week. Those who have tried, in localities far removed, to emulate the operators in the Troutman district, have met with defeat. Up to the present time no producing wells have been found in the Speechley sand outside of the district named and quite a number of old wells have been drilled down to that formation.

CHILEANS OPPOSE COMPULSORY PEACE

OBJECT TO PRESENTATION OF A PLAN FOR ARBITRATION.

Argentine Delegates to the Pan-American Conference Threaten to Withdraw if the Proposition Is Not Taken Up and Adopted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—The meetings fixed for this morning between the representatives of the American, Mexican, Argentine and Peruvian delegations to the Pan-American conference for the purpose of definitely settling the arbitration dispute, did not take place, as the Mexican representatives asked for a further postponement on account of not having been able to consult with President Diaz.

In the meantime the Argentines and their friends are getting tired of delays and say that if they shall be prolonged beyond a reasonable point they will take them as equivalent to a definite rejection of their claims to have the compulsory plan pass through the conference, and they will withdraw. The Chileans, on the other hand, have not abated their demand that the compulsory plan shall not be reported to the conference, and drop all sorts of mysterious hints about what they will do if it shall be. The Chileans base their claim, not only on the general understanding that nothing disagreeable to Chile was to be discussed by the conference, but upon the alleged verbal and specific promise that the subject of compulsory arbitration should not be brought up.

The Mexicans say the Chileans misunderstand the real import of this interview. Nevertheless, at the present moment it looks very much as if the Chileans would have their way, though it is impossible to make any certain forecast.

The committee on general welfare has adopted the resolutions of Volney Foster of the United States and Senor Chavero of Mexico, looking to the preservation of archaeological monuments in the countries of America.

SERMON FOR A BETTER YEAR.

The Rev. Dr. Barnes Preached on Improvement in Pittsburgh's Municipal Affairs.

The Rev. Dr. Lemuel Call Barnes, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, preached last night, on "How Can Pittsburgh be Better In 1902?" The subject is the result of a canvass of questions made the Sunday previous among his parishioners. There were 72 answers to the question, and from these Dr. Barnes developed his sermon.

The principal points were "A cleaner business life, better employers, better air, better streets and better tenement houses." Dr. Barnes congratulated his congregation on their good judgment regarding the trend of municipal affairs as shown in their answers, then delivered an instructive sermon on the general points suggested.

He will deliver a sermon each Sunday, hereafter, on the individual interests that help to make a great city good. This series will include a review of the municipal life of this city, and the reasons why it is not a good city, municipally speaking.

"It is a mighty encouraging thing to know that one's flock is thoroughly in touch with the condition of affairs in this city," he said last night. "With such knowledge the pastor is better able to infuse an intelligent interest in the proper government of the city. We shall consider each point suggested by the congregation on separate Sundays, and thus hope to arrive at an intelligent conclusion as to what is the proper thing in municipal government."

He concluded his discourse last night with an appeal to the congregation to do all it can to further the betterment of Pittsburgh in 1902.

"For now that you have shown some of the principal things that ought to be righted," he said, "it is your duty and my duty to encourage everything that will tend to make this a purer and holier city. Christ's work is always more effective where there is a cleaner municipal life, because men who try to elevate their city, try to govern it properly, are men after God's own heart. Such men this city has need of, such men this city must have."

H. C. Payne in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—Hon. Henry C. Payne of Milwaukee, who is to succeed Postmaster General Emory Smith in the cabinet, reached here tonight from Wisconsin. He was accompanied by Mrs. Payne and by his niece, Miss Louise Jones. Mr. Payne will assume his duties the early part of the week.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—River at 6 p. m., 12.5 feet and falling. Weather partly cloudy, cold, high winds and occasional snow flurries. The Dave Wood is at Letart Falls assisting the Valiant with her tow. The Virginia leaves for Pittsburgh tomorrow.

LOUISVILLE—River falling. Canal, 6.9; falls, 4.7; foot of locks, 12.3. Business quiet. Weather clear, cold and windy. Packets in and out on time. The Al Martin and tow passed up before daylight. The Ed Roberts leaves for Cincinnati as soon as she fixes her furnace.

MARIETTA—River, 6.5 feet and stationary. Weather stormy. Up—Dave Wood, 10 a. m.; Coal City, 2 p. m. Down—Virginia, 5:30 p. m.

POINT PLEASANT—River, 7.5 feet and stationary. Weather cloudy and cool; snowing most of the day. Down—Greenwood, Bill Clark, Courier. Up—Val P. Collins.

STEUBENVILLE—River 5.7 feet and falling. Weather clear and cold. Up—Ben Hur at 6 a. m. and Kanawha at 10:30 a. m. Down—Volunteer at 5 p. m.

MORGANTOWN—River 7.6 feet and stationary. Weather snowy.

OIL CITY—River 2 feet and stationary. Weather cold and light snow.

WARREN—River, 1.2 feet. Weather cloudy and cold.

BROWNSVILLE—River, 5.4 feet and stationary. Weather snowy.

GALLIPOLIS—River, 8.7 and falling. Weather clear and cold. Queen City up.

PARKERSBURG—River, 7 feet and stationary. Weather cold and snowed nearly all day. The Virginia down for Cincinnati at 8 p. m.

WHEELING—River, 6.2 and falling. Weather cloudy and cold. Departed—Ben Hur, Pittsburgh, 1 a. m.; Kanawha, Pittsburgh, 4 a. m.; Virginia, Cincinnati, 10 a. m.; Keystone State, Pittsburgh, 2 p. m. Up with empties—Sam Brown, 10 a. m.

Arrivals.

Keystone State, Knox, Cincinnati.
Kanawha, Roe, Charleston.
Ben Hur, Cramer, Parkersburg.

Boats Leaving To-Day.

Ben Hur, Parkersburg, noon.
Keystone State, Cincinnati, 4 p. m.

The Kanawha will not depart until tomorrow for the Kanawha river.

The Keystone State and Ben Hur arrived on good time and both boats leave today.

The Transit ran 23 days with Clarence Carter and a crew of 13 and never "broke a string."

On Wednesday the board of supervising inspectors of steam vessels for this entire country will meet at Washington.

The new Vicksburg and Natchez packet Senator Cordill was launched at Capt. Ed J. Howard's shipyard yesterday afternoon, and she went in gracefully. She is 170 feet long, 83 feet beam and 5½ feet hold. Her engines will be 16-inch cylinders, 7-foot stroke. She will have three boilers, each 44 inches in diameter and 26 feet long.

LAW HOLDS GOOD.

Kansas Contractor's Conviction of Violating Eight-Hour Law Sustained by Supreme Court.

TOPEKA, KAS., Jan. 12.—The state supreme court has handed down a decision sustaining the eight-hour law. The decision was by Justice Smith and was in the case of W. W. Atkin of Kansas City, Kas., who, in filling a street paving contract for the city, and worked his men more than eight hours a day.

He was convicted in the district court of violating the law and appealed from that decision.

FROM YOUTH TO OLD AGE
Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is just as good for the baby's croup as it is for grandpa's rheumatism. It may safely be used as directed by anybody at any age, for anything that involves inflammation. It is a specific for inflammatory ills of any kind. That is what a good old family physician invented it for and used it successfully in his practice for years.
Johnson's ANODYNE Liniment
It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sprains, bruises, cholera morbus, burns, cuts, cramps, congestion, asthma, sore and stiff joints, etc. It is to be taken internally and also to be applied externally. For nearly one hundred years it has guarded the family medicine chest all over the country. There are hundreds of mothers who would not be without it for gold. As an all-around perfectly safe and wholly effective agent for the treatment of family ills, it cannot be equalled.
I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass.

WEEK'S SALES WERE SOMEWHAT LARGER

The total public sales recorded upon the Pittsburgh Stock exchange during the week ending yesterday were 61,982 shares of stock, $142,000 bonds, 1,500 receipts, and 144.5 warrants. The total for the preceding week (which had only five days), was 55,308.5 shares of stock, $39,000 bonds, 840 receipts, $37.50 scrip, 255 warrants and 39 rights. These figures compare with 61,870 shares of stock, $64,000 bonds and 4,000 barrels of oil the same week a year ago. The market was irregular and erratic during most of the week, and finished mixed and rather hard to determine.

The following statement is a complete summary of the publicly recorded transactions on the Pittsburgh Stock exchange during the week beginning Monday, January 6, and ending Saturday, January 11, 1902. It shows the total sales, opening, highest, lowest and closing prices, and the changes in the selling prices as compared with those of the preceding week and the nearest ones to that time:

BROKE ITS RECORD.

Week's Record in Exchanges Biggest of Any Similar Period in Pittsburgh History.

Pittsburgh bank exchanges for the week ending yesterday were the biggest ever recorded for any similar week in the history of the clearing house association, the figures for 1901 being the record-holder until yesterday. The gain over that week amounted to more than $7,227,000, while the total for the year to date shows an increase of nearly $6,000,000. The local money market is somewhat mixed, some institutions offering loans at 5 per cent, and others being tight at 6. Considerable money is also being placed in New York at higher figures. The local rate for call and time loans, however, continues to quote at 5@6 per cent. The coming week may witness a perceptibly easier tone owing to the dividend payments.

The detailed clearing house reports are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
Yesterday	$6,650,956 90	$941,124 40
Previous Saturday	8,563,192 97	1,161,881 16
Last year	6,034,193 82	1,182,889 59

Yesterday's increase, $616,763 08.

The figures of the clearing house for the week ending yesterday compared with those for the preceding week (5 days) and the same week last year, are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
This week	$44,507,589 04	$6,375,000 44
Daily average	7,417,931 51	1,062,500 07
Last week	42,446,788 48	6,324,058 55
Daily average	8,489,359 79	1,264,817 71
Last year	38,280,469 98	7,708,146 53
Daily average	6,046,744 99	1,284,691 08

This week's increase, $7,227,019 06.

The exchanges for the week ending yesterday compared with those for the corresponding weeks in previous years were as follows: Week ending—

NUS, EVENING STAR, IS NOW AT HER BRIGHTEST

Prof. John A. Brashear Tells Interesting Facts About the Planet.

IT MAY BE INHABITED

Shrouded in Clouds or Heavy Atmosphere. One Side Is Probably Always Dark—Sun's Rays Reach It Feebly, But Gives Chance for Life.

BY PROF. JOHN A. BRASHEAR.

Shining with great brilliancy in the constellation of Saggitarius, Venus, our beautiful evening star, may be seen on any clear night during the coming fortnight. Indeed, it will not leave our evening sky until February 14, after which time it will become a morning star, attaining its greatest brilliancy in the mornings during the month of March.

On the fourth of last month the planet reached its greatest elongation on its eastern journey, when in the telescope it looked like a half moon. The casual observer would naturally suppose that Venus or, for that matter, any planet, would be less brilliant when only half illuminated by the sun. But as the inferior planets, or those between the earth and the sun, show only a full disc when farthest away from the earth, and, as a consequence, are then very much smaller in appearance, it is self-evident the light must be much more feeble when they are full in the sense we call the moon full. Nor is Venus at its brightest when half full, although its half-illumined disc then gives out more light than the full Venus.

Beautiful Crescent Now.

At the present writing Venus is a beautiful crescent, like a new moon, about four days old, and it has just passed the point of its greatest brilliancy—namely on the evening of the 10th. The most critical observer, however, cannot notice any difference in the brightness of a planet a week or more either side of that date, so that for at least a week or two to come it will remain by far the brightest planet in the heavens.

Although Venus is not less than 1,500 times less in size than the great planet Jupiter, which was one of our evening stars during the summer, its intrinsic brilliancy ranges from 40 to 60 times greater than that planet, not only because it is so much nearer the earth, but because of its being so much nearer the sun, and receiving so much more light from our great luminary.

Little Known of Venus.

But little is known of this wandering star, as the ancients called it. A dense atmosphere or clouds seem forever to surround it, obscuring the surface of the planet from mortal vision. Indeed, the greatest telescopes have failed to penetrate the mists that obscure the disc and to this day we do not know with any degree of certainty whether it rotates on its axis in a period similar to the earth, as the old astronomers thought was the case, or whether it rotates but once during its revolution around the sun, in 225 days.

That Venus has an atmosphere is almost absolutely certain. Just before the inferior conjunction, or when last seen just before it gets away from vision, when passing between the earth and the sun, a ring of light has been seen to surround the planet. It is during a transit of Venus, or just before a transit of the planet across the sun's disc, that this illuminationed atmosphere is best seen.

The Ring of Light.

At the time of the transit of Venus, in December, 1884, Prof. Langley, Prof. Keeler and myself all saw the ring of light around the entire disc of the planet, just after it entered or notched the limb of the sun, and all three of us, independently, saw the illumination extend over one part of the southeastern border for perhaps 500 miles, as if a great cloud belt partook of the illumination on that particular part of the planet's disc. Other observers have seen the atmospheric illumination around the disc of the planet as it entered upon the sun's disc at the time of the transit.

Percival Lowell has made a long series of observations at his observatory, near Flagstaff, Ari., where the atmosphere is very transparent and from some faint markings that he has detected he concludes that the planet rotates on its axis only once during its revolution around the sun.

One Side Always Dark.

If such is the case then one side of this beautiful planet is always in darkness and can only receive the feeble light of the stars, and at times the reflected light of the outer planets.

It is a question, however, whether even the light of the sun ever penetrates through the dense cloud envelope of Venus. Even if it can do so the light of the stars must be forever shut out, so that if, perchance, the planet were inhabited by sentient beings and they would travel beyond its lighted hemisphere into darkness no beauteous starlit night sky would greet their vision and their day sky would be sunless, as the illumination would come to them as through a fog or clouds.

Life May Exist on Venus.

While it is improbable that life, as we know it, exists on the planet Venus, yet, from the long and patient observations made by Prof. Langley at the Allegheny observatory on the conditions of the planetary world, it was shown that if any planet had an atmosphere that would properly conserve the sun's energy, life could be made possible in the nearest and farthest planet of our solar system.

The rotation period of Venus was one of the problems my dear friend, Prof. Keeler, had hoped to solve by the spectroscope. The same principle that enabled him to solve the mystery of Saturn's rings would have enabled him to tell us the secret of the revolution of Venus, but he was taken away ere his wish could be realized, and the problem still awaits solution by the astro-physicist. It will surely come in the near future, for that mighty weapon, the spectroscope, has wrested so many secrets from the stars and planets that this one cannot long remain undiscovered.

Great Hope for Discovering.

The finest spectroscope and spectrograph ever made at the Allegheny workshops was constructed last summer for the express purpose of studying the spectra of the planets, and as Mr. Lowell will use this instrument in the fine atmosphere of Arizona, it is to be hoped new light will be thrown upon the constitution of the envelope of our planetary neighbors. Some good work has already been done in a spectroscopic study of Jupiter and now that Venus is appearing in all her glory we should soon receive a message from our nearest neighbor, if not by wireless telegraphy, then by that marvelous instrument of modern science, the astronomical spectroscope.

Turn my telescope on Venus
Let me view the ruddy Mars,
Yes, my dear old science teach me
Truths that reach beyond the stars.
When I see this pearly planet,
When I view the ruddy Mars,
When I know that God will guide me,
On my way among the stars.

MANY CHARTERS ARE IN DANGER

COMPANIES MAY LOSE CORPORATE POWERS FROM NEGLECT.

Auditor General Hardenbergh Says the Law for the Payment of Bonus to the State on Capital Stock Has Not Been Complied With.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 12.—Hundreds of corporations in Pennsylvania are in danger of losing their charters through neglect to comply with an act passed by the last legislature authorizing the forfeiture of the charter of a corporation, created by special or general law, for the non-payment of arrears of bonus on its capital stock.

Blanks have been prepared by Auditor General Hardenbergh on which a statement of the amount of bonus due will be sent to each corporation in default. Corporations will also be required to report to the department the amount of original capital stock, together with all authorized increase thereof up to May 21, 1901, the date of the signing of the act, in order to have all arrearages of bonus settled in full.

Large Number Affected.

Mr. Hardenbergh says that it is more than likely that a large number of corporations will be affected by this act who do not appear among the delinquents on the bonus ledgers, for it has come to the knowledge of the department that increases of capital stock have been made on which bonus was due which were not properly reported. Several such instances have recently been found by accident.

Corporations are required by law to inform the state department of all increase of capital stock, authorized or actual, and such information is certified by the secretary of the commonwealth to the auditor general. It follows that when it is not reported no bonus charge appears against the company, so that through this negligence, carelessness or intention to evade payment of bonus, such corporations are in danger of having their corporate powers and privileges revoked.

Have Evaded Taxes.

There are also numerous corporations, no one knows how many, that have evaded the payment of all taxes for years, by one means and another, whose names do not appear on the auditor general's books. Mr. Hardenbergh says this class is in especial danger of losing the charter privileges, for notices cannot be sent to them, their names and whereabouts being officially unknown. Should it appear that the bonus is due from any such it will be necessary for the company to register and see that the amount is paid in full by May 21 next.

There are scores of old companies on the books of the department, the owners of valuable charters, such as were granted by special acts of assembly prior to the general corporation act of 1874, with small sums charged against them as bonus, that are likely to lose their charters.

Cannot Find Officers.

This is due to the fact that no reports have been made by the companies for many years, the officers last of record are deceased or of residence unknown and the department has been unable to get into communication with any person connected with the company.

Mr. Hardenbergh is following out the provisions of the act closely in construing it, holding that it applies to all corporations, however created, and that any bonus due either on the original capital stock or upon any authorized increase thereof on May 21, 1901, must be paid to the state treasurer on or before May 21 next, else the charter of such corporation will be declared forfeited.

EASY WEEK IN THE HOUSE.

Pension Bill Is the Only Measure of Great Importance That Will Come Up.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The really important work of the house of representatives aside from the Nicaragua canal bill is still in the committee stage, so that there is little of importance to be considered during the coming week. Monday will be given to bills affecting the District of Columbia. After that the pension appropriation bill will be passed. Although this measure carries about $139,000,000, it follows the department estimates and does not involve any serious issues, so that after a brief explanation its passage usually follows promptly.

The chief interest of the week will center in the hearings on Cuban reciprocity, to begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning before the ways and means committee. The hearings will continue for several days and it is expected that Gen. Wood and others prominent in Cuban affairs, as well as the interest opposed to reciprocity, will address the committee.

BIG BILLS IN COMMITTEE.

An Effort Will Be Made to Bring Some of Them Before the Senate This Week.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The senate is still without any definite plan of action for the future, and the indications are that the present week will witness a greater display of activity in the senate committee rooms than in the senate chamber. There are very few matters of importance on the calendar, but enough to engage attention for a few hours each day until Thursday, when the senate probably will adjourn for the week.

An effort will be made to get some of the big bills out of committee during the week. Among them are the Nicaragua canal bill, the Philippine tariff bill, and the ship subsidy bill. The indications are that the Nicaragua bill will be reported practically as it passed the house and that the shipping bill will not be materially amended, but the Republican leaders have practically decided to make a material reduction of the tariff on Philippine imports.

SCALE FOR CANAL WORKMEN.

Wages of Steam Shovel and Dredge Engineers Fixed at $250 a Month.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—The seventh annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredge Engineers and Cranemen of America, which closed here today, adopted a standard scale of wages for shovel and dredgemen to be employed on the Nicaragua and Panama canal work as follows: Engineers, $250 per month and board; cranemen, $200 per month and board.

PAY YOUR TAXES AND CAST YOUR VOTE.

All taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, January 18. That is the last day on which a tax receipt can be issued that will qualify a citizen to vote at the February city election. Voters will do well to give their immediate attention to this, for the law says no man can vote who has not paid a state or county tax within two years and at least thirty days before election day.

SCHLEY ROBBED OF VICTORY BY THE FLAG SHIP

War Correspondent's Graphic Tale of the Battle of Santiago.

SIGNALS WERE IGNORED

After Running the Colon Ashore Schley Asked Permission to Receive Her Surrender, but His Request Was Not Answered.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—A book entitled "Schley and Santiago," is in press in this city and will be issued within 10 days. The author is George E. Graham, a war correspondent, who had exceptional facilities for gathering materials, as he was on board the Brooklyn during the fight with the Spanish fleet, and was thus in position to tell the story of Santiago "without fear or favor." The book is said to have the unqualified indorsement of Rear Admiral Schley, who read and corrected the proof sheets. When President Roosevelt was governor of New York he was present when Mr. Graham gave an account of the battle to state officials and members of the legislature and said:

"I am sure you feel as pleased at having listened to Mr. Graham as I do, for I have listened to the best account I have ever heard or read of the naval fighting during this war."

An Interesting Incident.

This book is the first and only complete story of the work of the flying squadron, commanded by Schley. Mr. Graham was assisted by his camera, which enabled him to add many interesting illustrations, and the account he gives of the movements of the fleet and the battle is evidently sincere. It is free of virulent and personal attacks; the aim is to give a truthful statement of every occurrence. In connection with the arrival of the New York, Mr. Graham says:

The commodore reached over to me, took my glasses, and looked searchingly to the east, saying slowly as he did so: "There is the Texas and there is the Vixen, but I don't see the New York," and then, as he kept the glasses up, in an instant he evidently had found her, for he remarked: "Yes, there she is. I can tell her by her smoke."

Schley's Signal Ignored.

This was at 1:45 o'clock and the Colon had gone ashore at 1:15, while Capt. Cook had received the surrender at 1:43. At 2 o'clock, just as the New York got where we considered her in signal distance, Commodore Schley ordered the signal raised: "A glorious victory has been achieved; details later." This signal replaced the one which we had been flying for nearly three-quarters of an hour, "The enemy has surrendered," and which the New York had not answered. Vainly the signal officers on the bridge watched the New York for even the courtesy of an answering pennant showing that she understood our signal. None was displayed and then it apparently dawned upon Commodore Schley's mind that Sampson's flag captain on the New York was intent on ignoring him.

Schley Plead for Justice.

Picking up the megaphone, Commodore Schley did the one thing that day for which I have always criticised him. Lowered his dignity sufficiently to plead with the commander of the fleet that he might have the surrender of the ship whose escape had been frustrated by the Brooklyn and the Oregon, thus making complete the day's victory.

"I request the honor of the surrender of the Cristobal Colon," he said, in a clear, distinct voice; and from the commander-in-chief's flagship came wafted back the insolent answer from a cadet, "What?"

"I request the honor of the surrender of the Cristobal Colon" again called the commodore, and this time his voice trembled slightly. We watched the bridge of the New York closely, waited intently for an answer, but none came.

Request is Ignored.

And that message, as had all the others preceding it since the destruction of the Spanish fleet, which had been addressed by Schley to the New York, remained unanswered.

Somebody raised a broom at our masthead on one of the pennant halyards, and the crew of the Oregon followed suit and then gave three cheers for Commodore Schley. On the Texas the men all lined up on the forward deck and at the request of somebody aboard—I presume of Philip himself—gave three cheers for Commodore Schley. The little Vixen circled around three or four times, her crew yelling themselves hoarse for the Brooklyn, for Schley and for the victory. But from the New York there came never a sound of joyfulness and never a cheer.

Friends of Captain Charles Clark Do Not Think That He Has Been Sufficiently Rewarded for His Famous Trip Around the Horn.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—President Roosevelt is seeking a way by which he can further reward Capt. Charles Clark, the commander, during the war with Spain, of the famous battleship Oregon.

That such action will meet with the approval of the country is indicated by the numerous letters received at the White House and the navy department urging that something be done in behalf of Capt. Clark. An impression exists that while Capt. Clark was advanced six numbers for gallant service during the Spanish war, he really has gained only two in consequence of the promotion over him of four officers, two of whom were captains of Dewey's squadron, and two members of the engineer corps. In order to ascertain the facts, President Roosevelt called upon Secretary Long for a report, and that document is now in the hands of the chief executive.

Suffered No Loss of Numbers.

From the secretary's report it appears that Capt. Clark has not suffered any loss of numbers, and he is six numbers nearer the top of the captains' list than he would have been had he not been advanced by reason of the war with Spain. As a result of Mr. Long's urgent recommendation, congress enacted a law which made officers advanced for war service additionals and authorized their promotion simultaneously with that of the officer immediately ahead of them. It has been claimed that Capt. Clark lost two numbers by the promotion over him of Capt. N. M. Dyer, who commanded the Baltimore and Capt. J. B. Coghlan, who commanded the Raleigh. As these two officers were made additionals, the department holds that Capt. Clark lost nothing by their advancement.

Retirements Come Soon.

It is true that Engineer-in-Chief George W. Melville and Chief Engineer L. J. Allen were placed ahead of Capt. Clark by the operation of the personnel law, but the department holds that Capt. Clark did not lose a number by their transfer to the line and points out that Capt. Allen will be retired next month and Rear Admiral Melville will go on the retired list in January of 1903.

Secretary Long would be glad if Capt. Clark should be given additional reward, but it does not seem to be clear how it can be done except by special act of congress. It is a question whether Capt. Clark, having been rewarded under the statute for gallant and meritorious conduct, can be further rewarded for the bravery he displayed in the same acts. The attorney general may be asked to give an opinion on this point. Friends of Capt. Clark think he should be made a vice admiral and are anxious that the bill pending in congress authorizing the revival of this grade should be passed.

MURDER SUSPECTED.

Aged Woman Found Burned to Death and Her Son Is Arrested on Suspicion.

MARINETTE, WIS., Jan. 12.—Mrs. Lena Christel, aged 70, was literally roasted to death last night. Her charred and lifeless body was found in her room by a policeman, who had seen smoke issuing from the place. The woman's death was a mysterious one, and Martin Christel, her son, is in jail awaiting an investigation.

She was a Russian. Circumstances indicated that she had made a struggle for life, as her body was found some distance from the bed where she had been lying sick.

Silk Dyer Finds Pain Unbearable and Shoots Himself.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Ewald Balthasar, 67 years old, a well-known silk dyer of this city, committed suicide here today. He was prominently connected with the silk industries and had extensive plants at Haverstraw, N. Y.

While suffering from a neuralgic attack he shot himself.

James McCrea In Florida.

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—James McCrea, first vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, arrived here yesterday in his private car and will make a tour of the Florida east coast. In Mr. McCrea's party are Mr. and Mrs. James Laughlin of Pittsburgh.

OFFICIAL LACK OF RESPECT FOR LATE PRESIDENT

Citizens of Charlestown W. Va., Oppose Reappointment of Their Postmaster.

DANCE HELD IN HIS HALL

Colored People Made Merry There With His Consent Despite the Fact That the Town Was in Mourning for McKinley—Other Complications

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
503 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12, 1902.

Postmaster Getzendanner at Charlestown, W. Va., desires a reappointment, but charges have been filed against him by the mayor of Charlestown and others. The charges are that on the day memorial services were being held in Charlestown in respect to the late President McKinley, the postmaster leased a hall over the postoffice building to the colored people of the town for a dance.

The citizens protested to Mr. Getzendanner against permitting the dance while the town was in mourning. Mr. Getzendanner claimed the arrangements had been made prior to the day set for the memorial services and that he could not stop the festivities among the colored population, but gave the mayor permission to do so if he desired. The mayor declined to interfere.

Interfered With County Committee.

Additional opposition to the reappointment of Postmaster Getzendanner will be presented because he is alleged to have interfered with the county executive committee in the selection of a postmaster at Shepherdstown, W. Va., to succeed the late William A. Chapline, postmaster at that place and a McKinley elector. Upon the death of the latter his widow was continued in office. Mr. Getzendanner was one of the bondsmen for Mr. Chapline. The executive committee at a meeting decided upon his widow for reappointment by a close vote. A subsequent meeting was held, the opposition claiming that a full committee was not present, and the committee declared for Harry E. Munday for the place.

Meetings Were Confusing.

This aroused the citizens of Shepherdstown, who protested in a petition against his appointment on the ground that he was not a bona-fide resident of the town, but a temporary resident, and the representative of a lumber firm elsewhere. Postmaster Getzendanner antagonized the committee at its second meeting, thus gaining the ill-will of a majority of its members, who have declared for Harry Hopkins, a member of the committee, to succeed him.

Representative Dayton now has a rather complicated matter to straighten out. He stated that he would follow the decision of the county executive committee in recommending postmasters in his district, and the people of Jefferson county are wondering which meeting of the committee he will recognize as the one vested with proper authority.

The New 1902 Embroideries.

We are now ready to show the results of our personal visit to St. Gall, and selections from her untold wealth of Embroideries, to the women of Pittsburg and its environs.

The beautiful Embroideries, comprised of All-Overs, Flouncings, Edgings, Galloons and Insertings, are the most pleasing we ever imported.

To say they are exclusive is only to qualify a presumption; to mention they are reasonably priced is to discount intuitive knowledge; to say we are the only store in Western Pennsylvania that sends a personal representative to St. Gall each season is giving a piece of news that few people know.

And it is in this personal selection that our ability lies to undersell all embroidery collections about us, and to show greater—very much greater—variety.

The most critical examination is invited of the following new importations:

FINE NAINSOOK EMBROIDERIES—Choicest patterns, ranging from the most delicate and refined Baby Sets to the more elaborate patterns for women. They are in all widths and with 2 to 3 widths of Insertings and Galloons.

Inserting, 5c to $1.50 a yard.
Narrow Edgings, 5c to 50c a yard.
Wide Edgings, 12½c to $2 a yard.
Galloons, 10c to $3.50 a yard.

CAMBRIC EMBROIDERIES—Newest and best patterns. No use to which these ever desirable goods are put but what we have the kind desired.

Narrow Edges, 5c to 25c a yard.
Wide Edges, 10c to $2 a yard.
Insertings, 5c to 75c a yard.

SWISS EMBROIDERIES—Such a collection! Such patterns! Daintiness and richness beautifully associated. And such little prices! They are in Matched Sets, Edges, Straight Insertings, Galloons, All-Overs and Flouncings.

Narrow, 5c to 75c a yard.
Wide, 10c to $2.50 a yard.
Insertings, 5c to $1.50 a yard.
Galloons, 12½c to $3.50 a yard.
Flouncings, 27 inches, 75c to $3.50 a yard; 45 inches, $1 to $5 a yard.

COLORED EMBROIDERIES—Of these our collection is perfect. Beautiful mull, with dainty patterns, in newest French colorings.

Edges and Flouncings to match, 25c to 60c a yard.

Also, the commoner sorts to trim children's wash dresses—

In Sets, 5c to 25c a yard.

Valdenias (lace edge Embroideries)—Edgings and double-lace edge Insertions to match; also, All-Overs to go with them.

25c to $2.50 a yard.

ALL-OVERS in double width, with Edges to match, for making the whole robe. They are of batiste and come in white and ecru.

Priced from $2.00 to $5.00 a yard.

LACE STRIPE ALL-OVERS, with Tuckings and Embroidered Insertings. Every pattern new, with three widths of Flouncings—9, 27 and 45 inches—to match.

All-Overs, $2 to $6 a yard.

BLIND EMBROIDERY—This season will witness a revival of this good old-fashioned embroidery. Having an inkling of what was coming, we selected liberally of these goods.

Cambric, Nainsook and Swiss, 5c to $1.50 a yard.

GRASS LINEN ALL-OVERS—Embroidered in such colors as navy and red. Dashing, but very pleasing.

Black, white and green, $2 to $3.50 a yard.

BATISTE ALL-OVERS, with Edges to match. A popular material that will be more popular than ever this season.

$2.00 to $3.50 a yard.

WAIST PATTERNS, consisting of an embroidered design intended for the waist front. An extremely new thing. The material of Nainsook or Swiss, of standard qualities, so the waist materials can be readily matched.

75c to $5.00 each.

ROBES—Our best efforts were put forth to secure right styles and shapes. They are of Batiste, white and ecru. Embroidered ecru on white; all white; black on white. Lace inserted and ruffled with embroidery and with lace.

$10.00 to $30.00 each.

The prices above quoted in a general way do not couvey any idea as to values. It must be plain to every woman that a store that goes direct to where Embroideries are made, deals direct with the makers, brings the only direct importations of Embroideries to this city, brings them in prodigious quantities, must necessarily quote the lowest prices.

Bargain Table Attractions.

While engrossed in the new Embroideries, we do not lose sight of the table attractions. Today two excellent lots—

On one table is a lot of pretty Cambric Edges—3 to 12-inch widths—a range of widths that women will appreciate. The Edges are marked half values—5c to 25c a yard.

On another table is a lot of manufacturer's strips, desirable Cambric Edges and Insertions. Marked at half values. 60c per strip of 6 yards—to $2 per strip of 6 yards.

The Linen Sale, The White Sale and The Clearance Sale.

While the new Embroideries are features this morning, don't lose sight of the three above-mentioned sales now having such a great run in this store.

Choice is just as satisfactory now as the first day the sales started.

THE WHITE SALE puts ready-made Under muslins in the hands of women for about what the material would cost retail. The after thought is of the sewing that would be required to bring the garment up to the standard of ours.

THE LINEN SALE opens the way for the housewife and the housekeeper, the hotel, restaurant and boarding house keeper, to get their linens for about what they cost two years ago. Linens have advanced since then, but our large contracts with weavers in Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany and Belgium place the linens in our hands at a liberal concession.

THE CLEARANCE SALE is one of those happy semi-annual events when wanted things are picked up for a song. The prices in many cases are immoderately low. There are so many thousands of things, taking the 70 departments together, that detailed quotation is out of the question. Then, some of the lots are small. The very thing wanted may be here in the morning and gone by noon.

So it goes. Whatever of the present is needed for the home or the person, come and see how much less it is than before the holidays.

PENN AND FIFTH.
